Girl Drowns In Ditch After Car Crash

Charges Priest Whipped Her

Attractive 16-year-old Virginia Barrett, above, held in the custody of Salvation Army welfare officials at Ashland, today stuck to her story that she was whipped by Rev. William E. Rooney, 47, pastor of St. Edward's Catholic church. Rev. Rooney, charged with "abusing a female," is scheduled to be arraigned before Justice of the Peace J. H. Armstrong Tuesday for preliminary hearing.

PINNED UNDER WRECKAGE IN DITCH ON 30-S

Coroner Finds Mt. Gilead Girl, 17, Was Suffocated In Snow and Slush.

TWO ESCAPE INJURIES

Car Skids, Overturns; Woman Hurt as Engine Hits Car on Main Street.

A Morrow county girl was drowned in an unusual auto crash last night on U. S. route 30S, a mile east of Ontario, after the car in which she was riding skidded, overturned and pinned her in a ditch near Ontario.

She was Mabel D. Goodrich, 17, of R. D. 2, Mt. Gilead, who suffocated when her face was pushed into snow and slush in the ditch, according to Coroner L. B. McCullough's report. She was thrown clear of the auto as the car spun about and pinned under it when it overturned in the ditch.

Dwight Garveris, 16, of R. D. 2, Galion, was the driver. He and Miss Goodrich and two other companions were returning home from a show in Mansfield. Garveris told Sheriff Frank E. Robinson that the accident occurred shortly before midnight.

Garveris said that he was going about 40 miles per hour when the car skidded, twisted about, and crashed into the ditch on the left side of the road.

Kenneth Rizor, 16, West Point, received minor cuts about the face and was treated at the sheriff's office. Garveris and Jean Satcher, 16, Iberia, escaped injury.

Miss Goodrich was Richland county's eighth traffic fatality of 1941. At this time last year, the toll stood at two.

A wrecking car was needed to remove the overturned auto

Girl Pinned Under This Car, Drowned

Pictured here is the wrecked car which pinned Mabel D. Goodrich, 17, of R. D. 2, Mt. Gilead, in a ditch near Ontario last night, drowning her. It was necessary to raise the car with a wrecking truck. The wooden prop against the door jamb was used by police to prevent the car from falling back into the ditch. Three companions of Miss Goodrich escaped serious injury.

Nazis Hit Back At Liverpool; Ships Damaged

British Believed Using Planes Made In U. S. as War Violence Reaches New Peak; Mussolini Tells His Generals 'To Do Something.'

(By Associated Press)

British RAF bombers smashed at Berlin, Hamburg and Bremen "in the heaviest raid yet launched on Germany," it was officially announced in London today, while several hundred Nazi planes struck with fire bombs and high explosives at the port of Liverpool.

Berlin listed 16 killed and 37 wounded as RAF bombs shattered an 82-day period of immunity from aerial attack enjoyed by the German capital. The last raid on Berlin was Dec. 22.

Three others were killed and three wounded at Bremen.

As the war in the air erupted to this peak of violence, the British disclosed that "several new and more powerful types" of RAF planes were unleashed in night forays extending 'from Berlin to Boulogne and Norway."

London's air ministry said that the new planes carried "very heavy bombs" and that the attacks were "very successful." Bright moonlight helped define targets.

It was believed the new types may have included four-motored American-made bombers flown across the Atlantic by the British.

While informed quarters in London declared Britain was now prepared to fill the skies over England with night fighting planes, the Germans asserted that the attack on Liverpool inflicted destruction even "exceeding that at Coventry"—a reference to the English Midlands town which was all but destroyed on the night of Nov. 14.

Returning German pilots said 10,000 explosive and incendiary bombs were dropped, damaging many ships in Liverpool harbor and blasting grain elevators and storehouses.

The British said officially that casualties were "not unduly heavy," however, and that transportation facilities in Liverpool this morning were normal.

A British communique acknowledged the German Luftwaffe's assault on Liverpool was "the first large-scale raid" on England "in some months."

Nazi fliers reported that "hell broke loose on the Mersey"—the docks and shipbuilding section of Liverpool—and described the scene as "grandiose and terrible . . . an ocean of flames."

The British said that huge fires were set in Berlin, too, and that the industrial area of Bremen was set "well alight."

Heavy explosions rumbling across the channel this morning indicated that RAF bombers were following up the night raids with assaults on the German-occupied "invasion coast."

On the Albanian war front, the Greeks quoted Italian prisoners as saying that Premier Mussolini was now in the field and had given his generals until Saturday to "do something."

Duce's Own Offensive Cracks Up

(By International News Service)

ATHENS—With three more of their crack divisions annihilated or dispersed, the Italian forces attacking in Central Albania under personal command of Premier Mussolini slowed down preceptibly today.

Reports from the battlefront strongly indicated that after six days of futile offensive, the Italians are now showing signs of great fatigue.

Greek sources estimate that at least 30,000 additional Italian soldiers have been put out of action in the week's fighting.

Military experts in Athens predicted an early new Greek offensive which was expected to result in capture of Tepeleni and complete breakdown of the Italians in the center.

From then on, the attack will be directed toward the seacoast, with the ports of Valona and Durazzo the chief objectives.

British planes are now playing an important role in the Greek operations. An official communique today told of heavy attacks by R.A.F. bombers on Italian troop and motor transport concentrations on the Glata road.

Greek accounts said no-man's-land was littered with Italian dead,

Coal Producers Reject Demands For Wage Raise

NEW YORK —(INS)— Rejecting demands for a $1-a-day wage increase and other concessions, the nation's leading soft coal producers today recommended that the current contract with the United Mine Workers of America be extended another two years.

In addition, the operators recommended that in the interest of national defense working hours be increased to augment normal bituminous coal production during "the emergency period."

The operators' position was outlined before the Appalachian joint wage conference by Charles O'Neill, president of the United Eastern Sales corporation. He replied in detail to the proposals made on Tuesday by John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers of America.

PROBE SLAYING

Cincinnati Police Find Hat In Blood-Stained Automobile.

CINCINNATI—(INS)—A blood-stained automobile, a hat and two empty .45-caliber cartridges were the clues in what police today said was the probable murder of Herbert G. Beatty, 56, of Ashland, Ky., a salesman.

Beatty's car, its upholstery spattered with blood, and containing the used cartridges as well as a spent .45-caliber bullet, was found abandoned after the salesman had been reported missing. He had been expected to register at a Cincinnati hotel after driving from Ashland Tuesday.

Police said bullet holes in the car's windows were fired from the inside.

FLOOD MINE

Firemen Battle Blaze Raging Since Tuesday.

NEW LEXINGTON — (U.P.) — Firemen today flooded the entry of mine No. 52 of the New York Coal company at Rose farm, northeast of here, and expected to extinguish by nightfall a fire that has raged underground since Tuesday night.

A mine spokesman said the flames did not reach the coal seam and that the biggest loss will be time lost in production.

SEEKS GOLD

Plumber Thinks Precious Metal Can Be Found In Ohio.

MARTINS FERRY — (U.P.) — Ralph Burkle, a plumber, thinks there is gold in the banks of the Ohio river here.

He has obtained permission from the U. S. treasury department to mine gold on the banks. A mineral found there a year ago tested high in gold content.

HEARING SET FOR ASHLAND PRIEST

Rev. Rooney To Be Arraigned on Whipping Charge Next Tuesday.

ASHLAND — Rev. William E. Rooney, 47, pastor of St. Edward's Catholic church, charged with whipping a 16-year-old girl in the nude, will be arraigned here next Tuesday before Justice of the Peace J. H. Armstrong for preliminary hearing.

Rev. Rooney was released shortly after his arrest yesterday on a $200 recognizance bond. He was accused of "abusing a female."

Charges were filed by Virginia Barrett, 16, who accused the clergyman whipped her "in the nude with a heavy leather strap while tied with a rope to a post and gagged with a towel."

The whipping, according to Ashland County Prosecutor A. Ross Siverling, took place at 4:30 a. m. March 7. The girl had been living and working at the parish house, and Rev. Rooney objected to her friends, he said.

The grand jury is expected to act on the case next Thursday.

Rev. Rooney issued a statement yesterday in which he branded the girl's charges as an "unbelievable distortion of the truth."

Sheriff Dale Hammond said there were marks on the girl's body which could have been made with a strap of some sort.

A strap, rope and a towel similar to the one it is claimed was used were turned over to Ashland county authorities by Rev. Rooney when officers searched the residence. They said the articles had been locked in a file cabinet.

EDITION SEIZED

Police Confiscate Copies of 'Examiner' at Newark.

NEWARK —(INS)— The entire edition of 1,500 copies of Fleming's American Examiner had been confiscated by Newark police Chief Gail Christman and Detective Chief Clyde Hupp today.

They also arrested Edward Ellis, 34, a city employe, and charged him with circulating obscene literature, namely the examiner. Ellis collapsed en route to municipal court and was placed under a physician's care at his home.

The Examiner allegedly contained articles attacking a number of residents of this city.

COLUMBUS—(U.P.)—Ohio university at Athens today has two new trustees, appointed by Gov. John W. Bricker.

They are John W. Galbreath of Columbus, Israel M. Foster of Athens. Gordon K. Bush, Athens publisher, was reappointed for a term ending May 14, 1948.

Jameson Objects Again But Senate Overrides Him, 33-1

State Senators Joseph Jameson and P. H. Rogers, who are reportedly engaged in a private "feud," were at new odds today.

Renewed action broke out in Columbus yesterday dispatches said, when the senate passed a bill to limit appeals from the Lorain municipal court to the Lorain county common pleas court.

The vote was 33 to 1, with Senator Jameson of Lorain, casting the dissenting ballot.

Senator Rogers of Grafton, author of the bill, said the measure was intended to put the municipal court in Lorain county on the same footing as other municipal courts in the state.

Through a clerical error made several years ago, he said, appeals from municipal courts in that county can be made on all types of cases.

Jameson stated that he opposed the bill because 'I've lived in Lorain 36 years and no one ever said anything to me about the bill. I don't know a damn thing about it."

Poking fun at the Lorain senators, Senator Lawrence Kane, Hamilton county Republican, sought to amend the bill so that it would bear the names of both Rocchs and Jameson. Jameson made a vigorous protest. The

U. S. Plans to Send 99 Ships to Britain

18 Mosquito Boats, Submarines and Destroyers Included on List To Be Released This Year.

(By United Press)

WASHINGTON—The United States plans to transfer 99 naval ships to Great Britain this year under the new lend-lease program, authoritative sources said today.

Eighteen of them—mosquito torpedo boats—are on the list of war materials which President Roosevelt approved for release on Tuesday.

The others tentatively scheduled for release are 17 over-age destroyers, 55 submarine chasing patrol boats, and nine over-age submarines.

The transfers will be timed so that only a short period will elapse before replacement. The ships are types that can be replaced within the year by vessels now under construction. The mosquito boats and patrol vessels will be transferred first since they can be replaced most quickly.

President Roosevelt has not revealed the equipment on the first list he approved Tuesday, but latest authoritative information was that it also includes a quantity of Enfield and Springfield rifles, 75 millimeter guns, ammunition and bombs.

Meanwhile, all departments of the government concentrated on putting the new war-air program into affect after Mr. Roosevelt asked congress yesterday for $7,000,000,000 to supply every possible "gun, plane

UNLOAD MERCY SHIP IN FRANCE

Boy Scouts Line Dock to Cheer First Red Cross Food.

MARSEILLE, France — (U.P.) — The unloading of the Cold Harbor, the first American Red Cross relief ship with milk, vitamins and clothing for the children of unoccupied France, was celebrated by a shipboard ceremony today.

More than 500 French Boy Scouts and children, bearing French and American flags, lined the dock where the 5,010-ton freighter, permitted to sail through the British blockade after long negotiations, rode at anchor.

TOKYO — (INS) — The Chinese government is sending an expeditionary force of 1,000,000 men to British Malaya, the Japanese newspaper Nichi Nichi claimed today in a dispatch from Singapore.

The report said the Chinese troops will be outfitted by the British at Singapore and supplied with arms obtained from the United States.

Coroner L. B. McCullough announced death was due to cerebral hemorrhage after an examination at the Wappner Funeral home.

Mr. Butler was born in Ashland county on June 27, 1868. Survivors are his wife, the former Marie Sheehy, and four grandsons, Jack, James, Leo and Marcus Butler.

Services will be held Saturday at 1:30 p. m. from the funeral home with Rev. George Schrack of Perrysville officiating. Burial will be in the I. O. O. F. cemetery at Lucas.

COLUMBUS—(INS)—A 75-year-old widow who was found by neighbors in her Columbus home where she had lain for five days without food and water after suffering a stroke was in "just fair" condition in a hospital today.

Hospital attendants said Mrs. Parr was suffering from partial paralysis of her left side and severe shock.

APPROPRIATION WORK STARTED

Hull Called To Testify as Congress Prepares Huge Peacetime Measure.

WASHINGTON — (AP) — With speed the keynote, congress started work on the biggest peacetime appropriation bill in the nation's history—President Roosevelt's request for $7,000,000,000 to procure "the tools of defense" for Britain, Greece and China.

The measure started its legislative journey before an 11-man house appropriations subcommittee which has passed on the bulk of this country's multi-billion dollar defense plans since the collapse of France last spring.

Athough the magnitude of the aid program was enormus, its announcement created few ripples on capitol hill. One informed legislator said that the size of President Roosevelt's request had a definite purpose—"to demonstrate that Uncle Sam means business."

Secretary Hull was the first on the list of high administration officials called to appear before the house appropriations subcommittee for brief, secret testimony. Rep. Woodrum (D-Va.), the acting chairman, said the state department head would be followed by Secretaries Morgenthau; Stimson; Knox; Gen. George C. Marshall, army chief of staff; Admiral Harold R. Stark, chief of naval operations and William S. Knudsen, defense production chief.

Woodrum said he planned to close the hearings Saturday, if possible, so as to bring the bill to the house floor for debate early next week.

Woodrum anticipated little dis-

THREATEN PEACE

NLRB Ruling Hits Transportation Strike Agreement.

CINCINNATI —(U.P.)— Continuation of a peace agreement which settled the 37-day Northern Kentucky public transportation strike in January was threatened today by a new order of the National Labor Relations board.

The NLRB has authorized issuance of a complaint which charges that the strike settlement violates the national labor relations act.

FOR MEDIATION

President Gets Recommendation For Naming of Board.

WASHINGTON —(AP)— President Roosevelt received today from Secretary Perkins and Defense Directors Knudsen and Hillman a specific recommendation for a mediation board to handle labor problems related to the defense program.

No details on what they had suggested were announced but Miss Perkins told reporters that the idea of a mediation board was taking "definite" shape.

Hillman said several propositions were under consideration, including boards with 11, 7 or 5 members.

Asked whether there was any difference of opinion among the trio who saw the chief executive today, Secretary Perkins answered "no."

4 State Draft Specialists Give Boards the 'Lowdown'

Selective service boards and their clerks in Richland, Ashland, and Morrow counties, are still troubled about the selection of married men and those in necessary occupations for army training, got answers to some of their questions last night at a session in the Chamber of Commerce rooms in Mansfield.

For more than two hours four draft specialists from state headquarters talked on dependents, physical requirements, and occupational deferment and then answered questions from the audience. More than 50 selective service officials and examining physicians from the three counties attended.

Among the things they learned were that:

Men who have been married recently can obtain deferment if they prove their wives are dependents.

A man who pays alimony may still be called for service if his former wife has enough income from another source to support her.

Men ordered by a court to support their children who fail or refuse to keep up their payments may be called.

Try Case for 5 Hours, Learn It's In Wrong County

After presenting evidence in a $3,000 damage suit for five hours yesterday in Richland county common pleas court, attorneys learned that the accident involved in the action was in Ashland county, so the case was dismissed on a motion of plaintiff's counsel.

Since both the plaintiff and defendant live outside Richland county, court attaches said the case will have to be heard in another county if it is revived.

The action was dismissed without prejudice, leaving the way open for the plaintiff, Mrs. Caroline Nipper, Cleveland, to file a new suit.

The action was against S. L. Grundstein and Sons, Inc., Columbus, owners of a truck which allegedly was involved in an accident on route 42 between Mansfield and Ashland in which Mrs. Nipper was injured. Attys. Charles Cavanaugh of Cleveland and Arthur Negin, Mansfield, represented Mrs. Nipper. Defense counsel was Atty. Charles Chew, Mansfield.

The petit jury today began trial of a $5,314 damage action against Alvirda M. Fellenbaum, Ashland. The judgment is sought by Archie Elliott, Cleveland Heights, who contends he was injured in a crash involving the defendant's car on route 96 in Richland county.

Fugitive on a Dude Ranch + +

CHAPTER XXXII

"What all in tarnation's goin' on here?" Halfaday Hank demanded. "Hi there, Miss Lou? How are you makin' it?"

Shouldering through the crowded kitchen to Nancy Eleanor Smith, backed up against the kitchen table beside Cinders Malloy Sturgis, the stage driver thrust out his hand. 'How come you're wearin' a kind of a kitchen get-up today, Miss Lou? You look worrit too."

"Perhaps I am," said Nancy. "But I'm glad to see you again, Hank."

Halfaday Hank turned and again held out his huge gnarled hand. 'Hi there, Bobbie? Or should I say Miss Roberta Rowland? You see, I remembers your name. How you like your job here? Old Ike Skittles plenty hard to get along with?"

As Roberta Rowland, known heretofore on the ranch as Marcla Louise Farnsworth and identified in the last few minutes by Tony as Nancy Eleanor Smith, shook hands with the stage driver, Tony leaped across the room.

"You—you—are you Roberta Rowland, the hired girl Ma sent for?"

In the sudden complete silence Roberta, the erstwhile Marcla, answered sweetly, "Yes, Tony. You told me you knowed all along who I was. You've told me money and position didn't cut no ice with you and you loved me for myself alone."

Kirk Maxwell gasped, "I wouldn't have believed this if I hadn't seen it!"

"What ever is the matter, Tony?" asked Roberta.

Tony, his chinless face bloodless, whirled and glowered at Nancy. "If that — that girl is Roberta Rowland, who're you?"

"She's really Miss Farnsworth, Tony," Roberta answered his question. "We traded places. It was her idea. But since you knowed who I was, you of course knowed her too. What's making you so hopping mad?"

"Miss Farnsworth, eh?" gritted Tony, still glowering at Nancy. "Traded places! I get it now. Wrong picture! And it's you who's really Nancy Eleanor Smith." He choked. "But, I'll be damned if Roberta Rowland'll ever catch up with me!"

* * *

As he bolted for the door, Slim Cummings neatly tripped him. Whereupon Kirk Maxwell bounded forward and fiercely grasped the sprawling young man by his shirt collar.

"Get outa the way, Maxwell," panted Slim Cummings. "That buzzard's my meat!"

"You can have the slicker when I get my check," Maxwell retorted, jerking Tony to his feet delving into his pockets.

As if momentarily paralyzed by these swift, astounding developments, neither Sol Perriwell nor his wife moved to interfere. But Cinders Malloy Sturgis shouted, "Slim! Maxwell! Let me have a poke at that walloper, too. I've been hopin' for a long time to rebuild his face."

"Stay where you are!" commanded the sheriff, holding Cinders.

"Here's my check!" Maxwell flourished a folded slip of blue paper. "His tip for steering me wrong on who these girls are. Take the smart-aleck cheat, Slim. He's all yours!"

In spite of Sheriff Crowder's loud. "Stop this fight! Order Order!" Slim Cummings cuffed Tony's ears. then gave him the "bum's rush" across the dining room and booted him through the outer door.

At last all this commotion and din registered upon the sleep-dulled mind of John William Smith in the rear seat of the stage auto. He sat up, blinked his eyes and asked two very natural questions:

"Where am I? What's going on?"

No one even heard him. Slim had returned to the kitchen. Halfaday Hank and Ike Skittles were cuckling over Tony's discomfiture.

"Now that that squabble's over," said Chalk Crowder severely, "let's have silence. Nobody's to say a word except to answer my questions."

* * *

Nancy's color had returned her eyes glowed. Nor did Roberta Rowland look displeased over the manhandling Tony had received.

Old Sol blustered. "Yes, be still. Be still, everybody. Stop that cacklin', Ike You too, Hank."

Smoothie Dick Barclay thrust himself forward. 'Sheriff I've got something to say."

"Who're you?" Crowder's beat-in eyes roved up and down the man's figure and lingered on his face.

"I'm Robert J. Barclay, a ranch buyer. I'm also a—" Smoothie Dick stopped and I t his tongue while he sent a slantways glare at the stock stranger "I mean I have valuable ev I ence against—"

Crowder interrupted him. "Is that so? I'll talk to you in jus' a minute. Fust thing I got to do is arrest that girl," pointing an accusing finger at Nancy, "and that man" shifting his finger toward Cinders Malloy Sturgis, "for stealin'—"

"Wait a minute, Mister Sheriff," cried Roberta Rowland, "you can't arrest her for havin' her own geegaws and other stuff!"

Nancy saw the man who had arrived with Sheriff Crowder take one step forward and open his mouth as if about to speak. His eyes on Nancy, he hesitated, closed his lips and stepped back.

"The jewels and all those other things belong to her!" Roberta plunged on. "I've already told you her and me traded places. 'Exchanged identities,' she called it. Yet from what Tony said, it seems Miss Farnsworth ain't her name."

The sheriff's face went blank. Halfaday Hank ejaculated, "Wal, I'll be hornswoggled! Crowder, you keep your damn handcuffs offen Miss Lou."

Sol and Mrs. Perriwell stared at each other and that was all. Slim Cummings volunteered, "This ranch is plumb bughouse." and sidled over beside Roberta to whisper in her ear.

"I'm Nancy Eleanor Smith," spoke the real Nancy. "Does that clear up matters at all? . . Sheriff, you've no reason to arrest this man either," grasping Cinders' arm. "There's no proof he's stolen anything."

Chalk Crowder tugged at his chin and rubbed his eyes. "Well, you two, it seems like it's all hunky after all. Still, who stole Maxwell's manuscript, eh?"

"Never mind who took that stuff, Sheriff," Maxwell spoke up. "Take it from me, the fellow kept me from making a fool of myself. So even if you had the thief, I wouldn't prosecute."

"Even if you admit you're Nancy Eleanor Smith," said Smoothie Dick Barclay, "just remember I can put your friend Mister Donald Sturgis behind the bars. And take you——"

Nancy interrupted, "I'm calling your bluff, detective! Speak out. Go ahead. Do your worst."

* * *

MANY NEVER SUSPECT CAUSE OF BACKACHES

This Old Treatment Often Brings Happy Relief

Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

When disorder of kidney function allows poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

CROP DAMAGED

MARIONVILLE, Mo.—(AP)—Orchard owners reported today that extensive damage to their apple and peach trees had been caused by the extreme cold of late November.

Some orchardists reported that they would have no crop in 1941, all said the crop would be drastically reduced. Greatest damage was to apple trees, where some recently grown wood on limb tips died. Those trees will not bear normal yields for several years growers said.

There are about 1,172,000,000 cross ties in railway track in the United States.

DEVINE BUILDS SETS FOR SHOW NEXT TUESDAY

Community Players Close '41 Season With Play About High School Life.

It's going to take more than acting and players' "lines" to create the illusion of the principal's office at fictitious Central high school on the stage of John Simpson auditorium Tuesday night when the Community Players wind up their season with "What A Life.'

If you don't believe it, ask Harry "Bud" Devine who is building the set for the production.

Devine ought to know about creating stage illusions. Although this is only his second set for the local players—he designed the backgrounds for the recent staging of "I Killed the Count"—Devine studied stage design at the Cranbrook foundation, Bloomfield Hills, Mich.

While at Cranbrook he built sets for St. Dunstan's Guild players and later did photographic work with the Cleveland players for five years.

Now in the final week of rehearsal, "What A Life" pictures one day in the life of an American high school student who manages to bump into considerable excitement when he's caught cheating and the school band instruments are stolen

Seat reservations may be made at the Tawse Pharmacy, Friday.

Iowans Still Making Payments on Cost of World War.

DES MOINES, Ia.—(INS)—In the midst of a session of the state legislature filled with talk of national defense and possible preparation for another war, Iowa lawmakers learned that the state had nearly completed its payments on costs of the last war.

The state soldiers' bonus bond board disclosed that only $200,000 of the original $22,000,000 World war bonus issue was outstanding and of that $150,000 will mature next December 1.

The bonds were issued in 1922, and the payments extended over a 20-year period, with the final $50,000 to be paid next year. A total of 102,000 Iowans shared in the bonus payments amounting to 50 cents apiece for each day in World war service. The maximum was $350.

Research Robs Lowly Oyster of Mud Blisters

Lunz said that mud blisters common to oysters in the McClellanville and Bull's Bay areas of the South Carolina coast don't harm the bivalves "but they make them so unsightly that they're often looked upon as being unhealthy specimens."

Lunz has found that oysters exposed during low tide are less susceptible to the blisters than those always below water.

He is pursuing his research into neighboring oyster-producing states and hopes to find a blister-cure which he can submit to the oyster industry.

STOCKS TRY FUTILE RALLY ON MART TODAY

Labor Difficulty Blamed For Weakness In Bethlehem Steel Quotation.

NEW YORK — (AP) — Stocks struggled for a rallying foothold in today's market but most were unsuccessful.

Bethlehem Steel was one of the early soft spots with a decline of a point or so. Labor difficulties confronting this company were blamed for backwardness of the stock.

Lacking rising tendencies were Chrysler, U. S. Rubber, Woolworth, International Harvester, American Telephone, Western Union, and General Electric.

U. S. Steel was resistant, along with Southern Pacific, Kennicott, United Aircraft, Sears Roebuck and International Nickel.

Bonds and commodities held to a steady course.

Market analysis found another recovery argument in the compilation of Dun & Bradstreet disclosing bank clearings in most cities for the week ended Wednesday continued to expand over last year.

Those who have been worrying about the ability of the steel industry to take care of rising demand for metal derived comfort from the announcement of the American Iron & Steel Institute that during 1940 annual blast furnace capacity had been boosted nearly 2,000,000 tons.

OFFENSIVE SEEN BREAKING DOWN

3 Divisions Under Command of Duce Reported Dispersed In Albanian Fighting.

estimated to number at least 2,000. Eighty Italian officers were killed and 60 captured.

Prisoners reported that Mussolini recently arrived at Tirana, Albalian capital, then proceeded to the front lines, where he dined with chief officers.

Blackshirts, apparently spurred on by Il Duce, launched a series of counter-attacks in closely packed waves aiming to regain important heights in the Tepeleni sector, the Greeks said. But the attacks faded out yesterday and have not been resumed yet on the same scale.

Dispatches from all sectors of the Albanian war front revealed today that the great Italian offensive which began Sunday now has been completely smashed.

The Italian drive took form as a counter-move against the Greek offensive, now in its seventh day.

A communique issued over the Athens radio charged the Greek hospital ship Socrates was bombed by an Italian airplane off Leukas island. The planes dived at the vessel and dropped three bombs from a height of 900 feet. All fell near the ship, slightly damaging the vessel.

The announcement said the deck was clearly marked with a Red cross.

SUFFERED WITH KIDNEY WEAKNESS FOR 5 YEARS; BEE BEE'S GAVE RELIEF

To active Kidneys, which caused swelling in her feet, and limbs and made her stiff and sore. Feet would cramp and swell.

MRS. LESLIE CARROLL

"It is a real pleasure for me to say a good word for your wonderful Bee Bee's, because I've been troubled with my kidneys for 3 years and Bee Bee's is the only medicine that ever relieved me," said Mrs. Leslie Carroll, of R. F. D. 1, Piqua, Ohio.

"I was so very nervous, that the least sound would disturb my rest. Before taking Bee Bee's my nights were all broken up by my nerves and kidneys. I would cramp and at times my feet would swell terribly and the muscles and joints in my legs and arms were so stiff and sore, life was really miserable for me. My back was so stiff and sore, it would feel as if someone had stabbed me whenever I bent over."

"My sleep and rest was broken several times each night by too frequent kidney actions which cause me to get up several times in the night."

"I have never taken anything like Bee Bee's, now I can sleep at night and my pains and nervousness is forgotten and I feel rested. I will fully recommend Bee Bee's as it gave me my wonderful results.

LAW CAUSES EXPERIMENTS IN COAL FIRE

Inventors Offer Devices That Consume Fuel Without Smoke In Illinois.

(By United Press)

ST. LOUIS — Two similar coal burners are displayed by Southern Illinois coal producers as part of an effort to regain business lost in St. Louis through regulations of the controversial "smoke ordinance" passed last year in an attempt to eliminate smog.

Both devices, it is said, will burn Southern Illinois fuel smokelessly. They operate on similar theories.

The first, developed by P. D. DeWitt, a high school science instructor at nearby University City, consists of a large grate divided into two sections by a partition. While the fire burns in one half, the second half, filled with raw coal, is covered and gases from it are passed through the burning section and consumed.

Meanwhile the non-burning coal is converted into coke. When the burning half of the firebox is emptied, the fire is shifted to the coke and the first section refilled and covered.

The second device was invented by R. H. Piersol, a professor at the University of Illinois. It has two grates braced together, one on top of the other.

When the new supply of coal is placed in one grate, the double-grate is turned completely over so that the unburned coal is on the bottom. Thus the gases must pass through the burning section and are consumed.

James A. Worsham, spokesman for Southern Illinois Coals, Inc., said that the devices were put on display in an effort to regain the markets for the neighboring areas. Smoke Commissioner Raymond R. Tucker will investigate both, Worsham said.

The smoke ordinance which banned soft Illinois coal was passed last year. It provided that coals of more than a certain percentage of volatility cannot be burned in the city, except in mechanical firing devices.

Since passage of the ordinance, most coal sold to non-industrial consumers has been from Arkansas and Oklahoma.

HALTS ARGUMENT

EL PASO, Tex.—(U.P.)—A New York girl, visiting El Paso friends, was driving on a highway on the city's outskirts and crashed into the gate of a farm.

To a highway patrolman investigating the acident she said:

TWO ENLIST IN NAVAL SERVICE

W. C. Cox, chief petty officer in charge of the local U. S. Naval recruiting station announced today the enlistment of two youths from neighboring communities.

The recruits are Donald C. Payne, Shelby, and William P. Hedrick, Mt. Vernon.

The youths left for the U. S. Naval training school at Great Lakes, Ill., where they will undergo six weeks of training after which they will be assigned to some unit of the fleet, unless they are selected for training at one of the training schools maintained by the navy.

BRITISH BOMB BERLIN; NAZIS HIT LIVERPOOL

RAF Reported Using Planes Made In U. S. as War Reaches New Peak.

Duce had personally ordered the recent fierce Italian attacks on the central front, in the Tepeleni sector, which the spokesman said had been repulsed in four days of bloody fighting.

At sea, the British reported an RAF plane torpedoed a German destroyer in the Skagerrak, gateway between the Baltic and North sea, hitting the stern with an explosive flash "as big as a house." The plane's crew said it was too dark to see whether the German warship sank, but that she ceased firing.

Hitler's high command countered with a report that a Nazi speedboat sank a British destroyer off the English southeast coast.

Fuehrer Hitler keynoted a Nazi celebration commemorating the third anniversary of the union of his native Austria with the reich by predicting, in a speech at Linz, that the war would end in a tremendous German victory insuring development of "a greater Germany."

"The hour of our final victory will come," he told some 40,000 listeners in an unheralded talk, "whereupon we will develop very thoroughly the plans we have made. . . . We are not obligated to any class, or to any group, and we bow to no human being. Before us is the recognition of the German people, before us is a greater Germany."

Jugoslavs Hold Out Against Nazi Demand

BELGRADE —(U.P.)— Jugoslavia, still holding out against German demands to cast her lot with the Axis, is seeking a formula by which Germany could claim a diplomatic victory and Jugoslav pride would remain intact, diplomatic quarters understood today.

No arrangement had yet been announced for Premier Dragisha Cvetkovitch and Foreign Minister Alexander Cincar-Markovitch to go to Germany to conclude an agreement, as they had been scheduled to do last Tuesday.

Well informed sources said that the government, aware of the realties of its situation, was ready to arrive at some agreement which would satisfy Germany provided that it also would be palatable to Jugo-Slav public opinion.

U. S. Consulate at Hamburg Bombed

BERLIN — (INS) — The United States consulate at Hamburg was hit during last night's British air attack, the American embassy in Berlin revealed today.

A bomb struck the building, it was stated, but no one was injured. Officials now are investigating the extent of the damage.

London Paper Says Big War News Due

LONDON—(INS)—Persistent foreign reports that large contingents of British troops have landed on Greek soil went without official confirmation in London today.

But the London Daily Express commented:

"Hourly the (German) menace to Greece grows. Hourly it becomes more certain that big news of a sensational turn in the war is on the way."

U. S. Tells Nationals To Leave France

VICHY—(U.P.)—The United States urged its nationals today to get out of unoccupied France as a crisis caused by food shortages became more acute in both the occupied and unoccupied areas.

American consulates circulized all Americans by registered mail, saying, "the consulate desires to impress once more upon American citizens the desirability of returning to the United States and the government's concern regarding the welfare of its nationals."

No reason was given for the new appeal but it coincided with a series of developments concerning the food shortage, the British blockade and American relief.

DRAFT EXPERTS TALK TO BOARDS

State Officials Explain Ins and Outs of Selective Service Regulations.

Prospective selectees who are deferred for good reason and brag about "putting one over on the draft board" may be reclassified and called into training.

Farmers who own and operate their farms and have no one to take them over immediately may obtain deferment for possibly two months to permit them to dispose of their property or make arrangements for the handling of it until they return.

The marriage question was discussed by Major Harold L. Hays, chief selective service inspector for the state.

"It is hard to conceive how a non-dependent one day becomes a dependent the next, and it might be well to give such cases special attention," he said.

His reference was to men about to be called for service who marry girls who are working and then claim dependency.

"If you are misinformed in such cases and make the wrong classification, the neighbors of the registrant probably will get the correct information to you sooner or later," Major Hays said.

"No man who is deferred should get the idea that he is exempt from service," Major Guy Mills, state occupation advisor, said. "Deferment for occupational reasons usually is for not longer than six months and at the end of that time the registrant may be eligible for immediate service."

He pointed out that it is difficult to get highly skilled men for defense work and it may be wise to defer some of them holding key jobs.

Col. H. E. Boucher, chief medical advisor, said no men suffering from tuberculosis, venereal diseases, unstable nerves, perforated ear drums, or with insufficient teeth will be accepted in the army.

If a man is rejected because of a correctable physical defect he may be called again after receiving treatment, he said. Men who have major operations should be deferred six months to permit recovery, he added.

Major Carl Wahl, head of the induction section, said there was no intention now of calling men in the 2-A classification (deferred for physical defects) into service. He also said he knew of no plans to hold another registration for men who recently became of age.

Also attending the session was Major Victor C. Reese, district inspector, A. L. Allen, chairman of Board 1 in Mansfield, was temporary chairman.

It was pointed out that college students will be asked to take physical examination as early as possible so they will be available when college is out in June.

position to trim the British-aid fund, despite its huge size, once it reaches the floor.

As the committee prepared to begin its deliberations, there was talk that President Roosevelt might make some drastic effort to accelerate the nation's industrial machinery and get faster production for the aid program.

Woodrum said he had heard nothing specific along such lines.

It was suggested in some quarters the chief executive might appeal for such a speed-up in a "fireside chat" or that he might call for lengthening of the work week in some industries. Defense chiefs have said all along, however, that "bottleneck" industries already are on a 24-hour basis.

and munition of war" to the democracies.

A house appropriations sub-committee headed by Rep. Clifton A. Woodrum, (D., Va.) begins secret hearings on that request today and hopes to have a bill ready for house action by next Tuesday or Wednesday. Witnesses will include Secretary of State Cordell Hull, Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau, jr., William S. Knudsen, director-general of the office of production management, chief of Naval Operations Harold R. Stark, and Army Chief of Staff George C. Marshall.

The state department has authorized unlimited export of aviation gasoline and lubricating oils to the various countries of the British empire. Rigid export control had limited export of those materials to western hemisphere countries and American-owned concessions abroad.

Shipments now may go to Australia, New Zealand, Newfoundland, Union of South Africa, Burma, India, Palestine, Tanganyika, Aden, Leeward Islands, Windward Islands, Bahamas, Barbadoes, Bermuda, Jamaica, Trinidad, Gold Coast, Nigeria, the Straits settlements (Singapore) and Sierra Leone.

Agriculture department officials studied the food situation but, pending specific British requests, said it appeared that Britain would concentrate for the present on war materials from this country, continuing to trade with the dominions for food.

One well-informed senator said war supplies would begin to flow to Britain in great quantities in May and June. Treasury department officials already have predicted that defense spending for June would be $1,200,000,000—twice the present rate.

MANSFIELD, OHIO, THURSDAY, MARCH 13, 1941.

Democracy must be a sturdy institution—to survive in spite of its handicaps.

One North Carolina industry pays its workers in nickels—which must require frequent emptying of slot machines.

As secretary of commerce and federal loan administrator, Jesse Jones is working twelve hours a day—evidencing the disadvantage of capability.

Small Nations Still Hopeful

A NOTED foreign correspondent said recently that he had heard more defeatist talk about Great Britain in the first five days after his return to the United States than he had heard in as many months in Europe.

Why is it, then, that so many little governments, wanting Great Britain to win and believing that it will win in the long run, succumb to Hitler's blitz-diplomacy and allow themselves to be overrun by the German military machine and the Gestape?

In the first place, they are thoroughly afraid of Nazi terrorism. Germany is nearer to them than Britain. If they resist, they may reason, Hitler will bomb their cities and kill many of their people. If they surrender, their situation will be no worse and they will have saved themselves from physical destruction.

Eventually, when Great Britain wins, they believe they will regain their freedom. If they set up shadow governments in London to co-operate with the British, and let Hitler set up what they hope will be only temporary governments in their capitals, they may figure that they will come out better in the long run.

The trouble with such reasoning is that every bloodless victory makes Hitler that much stronger, increases his power over other little nations, gives him fresh supplies to replenish his waning stocks, and makes victory just so much harder for Britain.

'Small Loan' Law Needs Revising

OPINION seems to be nearing agreement that there should be no further delay in revising Ohio's "small loan law," which has been operative in practically unchanged form since 1915.

This law, as its name implies, is intended to serve the needs of small borrowers but no limit has been set on the amount that may be loaned, or the length of time a loan may run. An interest charge of 3% a month has been permitted on the first $300 of a loan, and 8% a year on that part of the loan which is above the $300.

Especially in large industrial cities many instances have been brought to light in which borrowers were mercilessly gouged by unscrupulous lending agencies and under the present law the state has had little, if any, supervisory or restrictive authority.

A number of states have already adopted a uniform small loan law, patterned on a plan developed after long study by the Russell Sage Foundation, a philanthropic organization devoted to the promotion of public welfare.

Under a bill on which senate hearings are being conducted in Columbus this week it is proposed that licensing requirements for small loan companies be strengthened; that such loans shall not exceed $500 nor extend longer than 25 months, and that the monthly interest charge be 2½% on the first $100 or less, 2% from $100 to $300, and 8% a year from $300 to $500.

A number of attempts have been made to secure revision of the Ohio small loan law, for the better protection of borrowers, but all past efforts have been blocked by opposition of lending companies.

It now appears, however, that operators of some of the small loan companies have recognized the advisability of supporting revision of the Ohio law to conform it to regulations that have been found satisfactory in such industrial states as New York, Pennsylvania, Indiana, Illinois, Michigan, Wisconsin, Minnesota and others.

It is a change that might well have been made sooner, and should be no longer delayed.

War Production Placed First

BRITAIN jettisons a lot of her industrial cargo as the old ship of state wallows on through the storm. She is closing several score of industrial plants, many of them long established. This may be partly due to lack of raw materials, but the reason given is the release of 750,000 to 1,000,000 workers for war industries.

In this drastic move, "hosiery, pottery, the major textile industries, boots, shoes and some other lines" are abandoned. Among them are numerous products known throughout the world.

It shows, as much as anything could, the seriousness with which Britain regards its present situation. The abandonment of such industrial production means a tremendous sacrifice of income and investment.

Some of the lost business will be gone permanently. A good deal of it may be taken over by American manufacturers. In this case the kindly thing would be an agreement to even things up somehow, sooner or later, so that nobody profits unduly from a friend's misfortune. Britain will be sadly in need of production and income when the present crisis is over.

Shipbuilding Along Great Lakes

AT A DOZEN centers along the Great Lakes there is a hum of activity. Government contracts totalling nearly $90,000,000 call for the construction there of various types of boats which will eventually move out to ocean waters. Vessels under construction or still in the blueprint stage include submarines, anti-submarine net tenders, sub-chasers, mine planters, oil tankers, coast guard cutters, tugs, mine sweepers, speed boats and launches.

The work is calling into employment not only former shipbuilders but new men. A school to train men for the work is being started at Sturgeon Bay, Wis., to meet the demand for skilled workers.

Mostly it is the traffic along this greatest of inland waterways that interests Americans. That, and the vast recreational opportunities it offers. But shipbuilding, even of this type, is not new there. Between 1914 and 1918 there was very large construction for ocean use and war purposes.

A geologist is telling Hitler that the oil production of Illinois is three times that of Rumania—but it's also much harder to reach.

Following the Dodo

—By ELSIE ROBINSON

YOU RESENT all this present menace, confusion and insecurity, don't you? You think wistfully of the "good old days" when "everything went along smoothly and nobody dreamed of war."

Well, I'm not so keen on the present rumpus myself. I could do with considerably less stimulation. But I realize it has its points. These hazards may be hard to take, but has it ever occurred to you how much worse your fate might be if you had no hazards at all?

Consider, f'instance, the Dodo.

The Dodo was a fabulous bird, who had things pretty much his own way back in the mists of antiquity. He could outyank practically any of his contemporaries, who were no mean champions themselves. Yet, in time, the Dodo began to falter in his routine. His reckless flight no longer darkened the heavens. He lingered longer on his roost, then took to waddling lazily on the ground. His incredible wings withered. The young Dodos were feebler and fewer. Until after a while, the Dodo disappeared entirely. And all modern science possesses of his record are a few scattered bones.

Recently, young Mathias L. Hauman, of Chicago, wandering through a museum, found the following inscription beneath the reconstructed skeleton of a Dodo.

"The absence of predatory enemies on their island habitats and the lack of need for alertness, brought about flightlessness through degenerative evolutionary processes."

In short, the Dodo had it too easy. He didn't have to fight. He didn't have to worry. There was nothing to jolt him out of his comfortable rut. So, little by little, he lost his power and place in the scheme of things. And faded out.

You don't need to look far for an example of that same "degenerative process." America, herself, has been doing a Dodo for the last 75 years. We pride ourselves on our spunk and initiative. But how many modern citizens would endure the hardships and face the dangers which their Pilgrim forefathers tackled? How many would stand up under the gruelling drudgery, loneliness and monotony of the Covered Wagon Trail?

They had no security, those lusty spirits . . . no guarantees or accident insurance. They were never safe from danger and disaster. They could never relax, always had to be on the alert. And while that alertness lasted, they could—and often did—lick their weight in wildcats.

And now Junior yells his head off if he doesn't find a steady job waiting for him the day after he leaves high school or college! And a lot of us would like to have Old Age Security begin on our thirtieth birthday!

Our wings are certainly withering!

Make life too easy, take away its hazards, eliminate the "predatory enemies" of pain and poverty, the handicaps and humiliations, and what do you get? Something that's lost its fire and flight and is ready for a fade-out.

So maybe this war horror has its benefits, after all. Especially that year of tough training our boys will have to face. Perhaps the wings of our American eagle may tighten again . . . stretch themselves in alert eagerness . . . vault, once more, high into unknown and dangerous skies!

TODAY IN HISTORY

Trinity church, famous New York City landmark, held services for the first time on March 13, 1698. The building stands at the head of Wall Street at one time the upper boundary line of the city. The wall was built as a defense measure.

This Is Ohio

IN THE northern part of Tuscarawas county, three miles west of state route No. 8, there is a neat and attractive village with the Biblical name of Zoar, which now contains about 150 inhabitants.

It is the site of the most successful community experiment ever undertaken in Ohio. Established in 1817, Zoar was once teeming with industry. Zoarites built such factories as a grist mill, woolen mill, silk mill, iron mill, pottery, tannery, brewery, wagon shop, shoe shop, bakery house, tin shop, foundry, planing mill, watch shop, weaving shop and other needed buildings. At one time, it is said, they produced all the articles regarded as necessary except rice and coffee.

Timely Editorial

Smallpox Control.

Iowa newspapers, more in sorrow than in anger, once more are commenting unhappily on their state's sorry record in smallpox prevention which results from a surprisingly backward and unrealistic attitude toward this once-dreaded, but now easily-controlled disease.

Twenty-one states of the union make vaccination an iron-clad legal requirement for school attendance. Most of the others have statutes of less rigidity with respect to smallpox control. Iowa has virtually none except that unvaccinated persons must absent themselves from schools during epidemics.

The result is that Iowa has hundreds of smallpox cases annually and in the period from 1933 to 1940 rolled up a total of 5801 cases as Massachusetts, Maine, New York and Rhode Island, on the other hand, go year after year without any cases of smallpox at all as a result of stringent preventive measures. — Columbus Dispatch.

How It Started

—By JEAN NEWTON

Why We Call It 'Dry' Wine.

That "dry" should be opposed to "wet" is understandable; but why should it describe a wine that is not sweet?

The answer is an interesting instance of figurative usage.

In making wine, the fermentation is controlled so as to obtain the product desired; that is to say, sweet or otherwise.

Fermentation, depending upon its extent, neutralizes or eliminates the saccharine matter; if checked at an early stage, the wine will be sweet; complete or fairly complete fermentation will leave a result not only not sweet, but sour—commonly known as dry.

The logic of this characterization is made clearer by considering, for a moment the expression "dry wit," for wit that is severe, sharp, hard—in other words, lacking sweetness!

Guarding Our Words.

We speak so many words and most
Of them so casually.
If we but meant each single one,
That speaking would so free
Us from deceit that we would walk
Clear of hypocrisy.
One of the evils of this life
That it is hard to see.

To speak more carefully, to speak
Also more thoughtfully.
This should be ever what we seek.
I think you will agree.

Mexican People Friendly to U. S. But Nazi Propagandists Are Busy

—By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON—Behind the scenes, Henry Wallace played quite a part in the Mexican-U. S. agreement to work out joint plans for national defense.

It was Henry's job, during his trip to Mexico as vice-president-elect, to put across some quiet diplomacy with new President Avila Camacho aimed to smooth out all U. S.-Mexican problems. This he did, and became completely "simpatico" with high Mexican officials.

However, Henry also brought back a very worrisome picture of Nazi activity in Mexico.

Being a farm boy from Iowa, and skeptical about the Zimmerman affair during World war I when the German foreign office invited Mexico into an alliance against the United States, Henry went down to Mexico as an unbeliever as far as Nazi propaganda was concerned. But he came back, his skepticism gone.

The great mass of the Mexican people and the Mexican government are sincere believers in friendship with the United States, Henry found. But a small minority, plentifully supplied with Nazi Fascist cash, has been doing its best to poison friendly relations.

In fact, there were some indications that the Nazis might even go to such lengths as outright sabotage or damage to the United States in such a way that Mexico would get the blame, thereby stirring up animosity between the countries.

Note—Last year $2,000,000 in U. S. greenbacks was taken to Mexico from New Orleans by Count Roberti of the Italian legation, presumably for propaganda purposes. Count Roberti is the son-in-law of Ogden Hammond, ex-ambassador to Spain and a leader of the move to co-operate with Spanish Dictator Franco.

Guarding the Capitol.

IF YOU visit the United States capitol in the near future don't carry an isolationist banner or anything more explosive than a cigaret lighter, or you may wind up in the brig. Tightest police restrictions since World war days soon will be put into effect at the Capitol building.

Under a plan devised by Speaker Sam Rayburn, Senator Harry F. Byrd, chairman of the senate rules committee, and Arthur E. Cook of the Capitol police board, all visitors will be required to check packages before entering the building.

Several thousand numbered checks were ordered last week from the government printing office, to be used at special booths at every entrance to the building. Furthermore, strange visitors will be asked to remove their overcoats, just in case they are concealing something of interest to the police.

Meantime, the safety of members of congress as well as the protection of the historic building itself is being entrusted more and more to experienced hands, and less to tenderfoot college students who double in brass as capitol policemen. Veteran bluecoats from the District of Columbuia force and FBI agents now handle more obstreperous troublemakers during the day, and guard the building exclusively from midnight until 8 a. m.

Two things hastened the decision to tighten police regulations at the seat of our government. First were the recent disturbances by demonstrators against the lend-lease bill. Second was the fact that a member of the regular capitol cop force was found asleep late at night at the only entrance to the building. Another was caught dozing at the capitol's power plant.

A Labor OPM.

WHAT the president has in mind to cure strikes in national defense industries is a labor board under the OPM.

It will consist of nine or eleven members (exact number still undecided), made up of a panel of three or four representatives of management, another panel of the same number from labor, and three representatives of the "public." The last group will be its real works.

This new labor board will be independent of the OPM but will work in close conjunction with it. Object is to relieve the OPM of grappling with labor disputes, so it can concentrate on expediting production.

The board will have no compulsory arbitration powers — vehemently opposed by both AFL and CIO. Its authority will rest chiefly on the force of public opinion.

In the event of a strike, or threatened strike, the board will hear both sides and propose terms for a settlement. If one of the disputants refuses to accept, then the board will make its findings public. Roosevelt believes that such a threat would be sufficient to induce acquiescence.

However, if this "voluntary" method doesn't work, he may later ask congress to give the board compulsory powers.

Various names are under consideration for appointment to the board, including Dean Lloyd Garrison of the Wisconsin university law school (chairman of the old National Labor Board), and Dean James Landis of the Harvard law school (one-time chairman of the Securities and Exchange Commission).

* * *

No Legislation Needed.

THE president's idea is a compromise between the War Labor Board of World war days, and the 40-day cooling-off plan of OPM Director Knudsen and Under Secretary of War Patterson; also of several other proposals.

All these plans would have required legislation, which Roosevelt wants to avoid. He feels that the defense labor problem is more annoying than serious, and that the best way to handle it is by voluntary rather than coercive methods.

That explains why early in the defense program he laid down the rule that the war and navy departments and the National Labor Relations Board were to keep strictly out of defense labor conflicts and let Sidney Hillman and the U. S. Conciliation Service handle them.

Note—OPM insiders credit Knudsen's sudden advocacy of the 40-day cooling-off plan to John Biggers, Toledo glass manufacturer who is head of the OPM Production Division; and his friend Fred Eaton, $1-a-year anti-New Deal Wall Street lawyer, who tried to get the secretaryship of the OPM but was slapped nown by Roosevelt.

* * *

Merry-Go-Round.

WALTER REUTHER, dynamic young United Auto Workers vice president, has had several private conferences with OPM bosses Kundsen and Hillman on his proposal to use auto plants for mass production of fighting planes. . . . The informal luncheons started by Vice President Henry Wallace to study Spanish have prospered and grown. The group has expanded to sixteen, meeting daily during the noon hour. Taking a tip from Wallace, the department of agriculture graduate school is now offering nine courses relating to Latin America.

Man About Manhattan

—By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—After he lost four-fifths of his library by fire Ed Wynn gave up the collection of humor.

"They've stopped building monuments to people who make you laugh," explains the clown sadly. "They only build monuments to people who make you cry. In my opinion that's what's wrong with this cock-eyed world."

Rader Winget, in charge of the New York branch of the Associated Press of Great Britain, descended to that basement restaurant where only red-haired waitresses are employed, for lunch. The little redhead who was waiting on him accidentally spilled some soup, and it went into Winget's shoe. Winget looked at her. "Was that nice?" he demanded.

"What's the matter—you want crackers with it?" she asked.

THIS scene I observed in a hotel bar about 4 p. m.:

There was a tight-lipped young woman at a table, drumming her fingers against the glazed mahogany top. It was clear she was not amused.

Presently a young man breezed in and said, "Here I am baby."

"Don't baby me," she blazed. "You've kept me waiting in this bar five minutes. I won't stand for it."

He tried to reason with her. "You know I couldn't leave the room until the boys came for the bags."

"I don't care what you couldn't do." Her voice was now strident. "I've had enough of this. Who do you think I am, to be kept waiting in bars!"

"You've waited in Tony's for me plenty."

"That's different, and I don't like your attitude."

"Listen," he said, "stop that kind of talk or I'll walk out of here and leave you flat!"

"Get going," she cried.

But, he didn't.

Just then my people came in and I had to leave without learning how it turned out. I could have killed them. My people, I mean.

LATER, we dropped by the Biltmore to say goodbye to Orrin Tucker before he left for Chicago. The band and Bonnie were on the stand but Tucker was nowhere in sight. I thought I would write him a little note and was in the midst of scribbling a few words on the back of a menu when I noticed peculiar smiles on the faces of the people near by. I looked up and he was standing behind me, reading the note as I wrote, over my shoulder.

Frazier Hunt, who has added to his experiences by launching a new radio series, thinks the Chinese "sense of time" is one of the imponderables that Westerners and the Japanese must consider when trying to understand the Chinese.

"I once asked a student what part of China he was from," said Hunt, "and he told me that for 100 years his family had lived in Shantung Province. 'But,' the student added, 'my family really comes from the South.'"

A Farmer's Diary

Believer In 'Signs'

—By CALVIN A. BYERS

AN OLD MAN was sitting in the open door of his barn. He held a jack knife firmly in his right hand and with the other gripped a piece of warped and weather beaten shingle. The sun shone warm and in the bearded, wrinkled face was reflected a rare contentment.

I drove in to talk to him. He eyed me warily at first, as if I were a salesman, but when he found I did not represent any business house, he threw away his mask and smiled congenially.

I told him about the lovely valley where I live, the high, wooded hills, the soft water springs, and the productive soil. He became convinced I was a farmer, too.

"Do you notice this shingle I'm playing with?" he asked. "I took them off the old shed roof last fall. Some, you see, are curled around like a hoop and others are as straight as they ought to be. That's because the sign was wrong when half the roof was put on. My father put half the shingles on in the last day of the "down" sign—that was twenty-five years ago. The next day he tacked the other end on, and maybe you won't believe it, but in four years time you could see the very line he began tacking in the upsign. That side began to curl and when I finally took them off they were as warped and brittle as well-fried bacon strips."

"That's odd," said I. "Why do you think it mattered?"

He kept on whittling. "I dunno—but that same sign goes for planting potatoes, too. We planted part of ours in the down sign, and the next week, against dad's protest, we finished the last ten rows in the up sign. When we dug the potatoes, the first patch was down four inches deeper than the other and had much better potatoes.

"In the summer, if you cut timber at the right time, sprouts won't bother on the stumps. Cut it another time and a man can't keep 'em down! The moon has lots to do with timber, too. Timber cut in the dark of the moon won't split and check at the ends. Many a valuable stick was lost in our woods by men who just laughed when dad warned 'em. The timber was sealed and checked and dad got his money, but the company lost because they didn't know.

"I'd never plant a root crop in "the posy woman" nor a heavy leaf crop any other time. I always do my plantin' by the signs. I'm sure there's more science to it than many folk'll admit—only it hain't been all discovered yet."

SHAKESPEAREAN TROUPE GIVES 'MERCHANT' AT SCHOOL FRIDAY

"The Merchant of Venice" will be presented by James Hendrickson, Claire Bruce and company at Mansfield Senior high school, Friday at 1 p. m.

The performance, open to the public, will be given only once. The troupe is traveling to Minneapolis for presentations of Shakespearian drama, and time limitations prevent more than the one showing.

Hendrickson, Miss Bruce and company are now in their 14th season. Both leads have appeared on Broadway in production of modern drama.

The arrangements for the show were made at Senior high by the English department. Efforts are being made to return the company here next year for more performances.

PENN STUDENTS TEST FLU VIRUS

PHILADELPHIA —(U.P.)— Medical school students at the University of Pennsylvania have enlisted in science's battle against influenza. Half of the 484 freshmen and sophomore students have been innoculated. The other half remain unvaccinated

Those receiving a shot in the arm in the university's bacteriological department got a dose of the Rockefeller Foundation's new influenze vaccine. It is a mixture of "A" type of flu virus.

Scientists will check the health records of both groups of students in an attempt to determine the effectiveness of the new vaccine.

Beware Coughs Following Flu

After the flu is over and gone, the cough that follows may develop into chronic bronchitis if neglected. Creomulsion relieves promptly because it goes right to the seat of the trouble to help loosen and expel germ laden phlegm, and aid nature to soothe and heal raw, tender, inflamed bronchial mucous membranes. No matter how many medicines you have tried, tell your druggist to sell you a bottle of Creomulsion with the understanding you must like the way it quickly allays the cough or you are to have your money back.

AUTO 'DEADLY WEAPON'

OAKLAND, Cal. — (U.P.) — By classifying, for legal purposes, the automobile as a "deadly weapon," Police Judge Fox made the punishment fit the crime. In a drunken driving case in which six persons were injured, Judge Fox found he could only impose a maximum sentence of six months in jail. He therefore changed the crime to "assault with a deadly weapon" which makes a 10-year prison sentence possible

COMPLETE WORK ON REBUILDING GARBAGE FURNACE FOR CITY

Officials of the Louis B. Schaefer company of Cleveland, announced today that work on rebuilding one of the city's two garbage disposal furnaces had been completed and that the city will be able to put it to use starting Saturday.

The Cleveland company was the lowest of two bidders for the task of rebuilding the furnace with a bid of $1,625. This is the first major work done on the city's garbage disposal plant in ten years.

The reconstruction was done without cutting off the operation of the neighboring furnace. The contractor started a fire in the renovated furnace today to bake it out until Saturday.

A comparatively new type refractory construction was used in the work with a composition being molded to take the place of fire brick.

Council provided for the expense of the reconstruction in its annual appropriations. The cost will be met with funds from the garbage department's surplus from revenues

Lester Linham, garbage department superintendent will direct the resumption of work in the second furnace Saturday.

ELK DESTROY PROPERTY

YAKIMA, Wash.—(U.P.)—Farmers near here are threatening to take the law into their own hands because the state game department has delayed taking action to halt inroads of elk herds on ranches. The elk come down from the mountains in search of food and destroy fences and damage other property.

AUDITOR WARNS 3,500 MUST LIST PROPERTY FOR TAXATION

With only 15 days left in which to list personal property for taxation, County Auditor Norman L. Wolfe said today that less than 1,000 of the estimated 4,500 accounts in the county have been listed at his office.

The number of listings has shown an increase daily for the past week, but the auditor urged property owners to list their holdings as soon as possible to avoid a last-minute rush.

Treasurer John E. Kolb said personal tax receipts so far amount to approximately $22,000. The deadline for payments without penalty is April 1.

Real estate tax payments had amounted to $450,000 today and were expected to climb past the half-million mark this week. Real estate tax books will close March 20.

Kolb said his office will remain open next Saturday afternoon for the convenience of property owners who are unable to get to the courthouse to pay their taxes during the week.

CIVIL SERVICE EXAMS LISTED

A new list of Civil service examinations were announced today by the United States Civil Service commission.

Examinations are open for research chemists, of any specialized branch; associate entomologist in taxonomy; construction inspection co-ordinator in the United States Maritime commission, in three optional branches, hull, machinery and electrical; and student nurses.

Full information regarding requirements for the examinations and application forms may be obtained from George H. Hoover, secretary of the board of the local U. S. Civil Service examiners, at the postoffice.

Patriotism Shows Up In Stripes For Men This Spring

Soundly as a man's heart may beat out his love of country, there's a limit to how obviously he can wear its stars and stripes. A buttonhole emblem, flag pin; a red-white-and-blue adorned tie clasp or set of cuff links—his own activity insignia—only one of these symbols can be worn in good taste.

Yet the patriotic influence surges throughout the ready to wear picture, and with effective restraint.

Many blue suitings are enriched with a subtle red stripe or plaid, to which the white note is also added with extreme refinement.

White shirts employ pin stripes of red and blue; blue shirts take to spaced clustered stripes in white and red, lending just enough color to a very subtly patterned or solid blue, or gray suit.

Real artistry has gone into the combination of red, white and blue in handkerchiefs, which don't look at all like waving flags everytime they're pulled out of the pocket—but are finely patterned.

KISS YOUR TIRED FEELING GOODBYE!

Pepless Many Suffer Low Blood Count—And Don't Know It!

The baffling thing about low blood count is that you can weigh about as much as you ever did—even look healthy and strong, yet—you can feel as if you had lead in your legs, dopey, tired and pepless.

Low blood count oft times may mean you haven't got enough red blood corpuscles. It is their vital job to carry life-giving oxygen from your inner throughout your body. And just as it takes oxygen to explode gasoline in your car and make the power to turn the wheels, so you must have plenty of oxygen to explode the energy in your body and give you going power.

Get Dr. Williams Pink Pills today. They are world-famous for the help they give in increasing the number and strength of red corpuscles when they have been weakened by simple anemia. Then with your blood count up, you'll feel like bounding up the stairs as if you were floating on air. Ask your druggist for Dr. Williams Pink Pills today. 49c.

Ganges Amateurs Present Comedy In Three Acts

GANGES—Sparkling entertainment and uproarious comedy will be maintained this coming Friday and Saturday when the Ganges Dramatic club presents a three act play, "The Campbells Are Coming." Music will be furnished by the Ganges orchestra and a mixed quartet.

Velma Kuhn, as Ma Brannigan, engineers a hoax upon the aristocratic Mrs. Augusta Campbell (Wanda Mellick) and her son Kingston (Gail Kuhn) when they come to visit the family of his fiancee, Kaye Brannigan (Nina Bly), in the Ozark home where Ma lives with her grandchildren, Kaye, and Dick (Gerald Hopkins) and Betty (Bernice Laser).

Kaye returns from a fashionable girls' school with a head full of notions and a tongue thick with broad "a's", and in her attempt to discard her local admirer, Jeffrey Scudder (Charles Raiser), she encounters disapproval of her family.

Lending color and merriment to the episodes that follow are the real hillbilly servant girl, Catalpa Tapp (Mildred Raiser) and her worthless old scamp of a father, Bildad (Leon Laser), and the comical old flame of Ma Brannigan Cyrus Scudder (Rollo Ferrell).

COLLEGE ORGANIZATIONS AT ASHLAND HAVE GROUP MEETS

ASHLAND — Three college organizations held their meetings recently and were addressed by Dr. L. L. Garber, professor of English. Dr. B. F. Martin, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, and Mrs. Homer Boyer, beauty demonstrator and a former student of Ashland college.

Announcement of the all-star basketball game to be played March 19 was made. Harriett Bennett of Warsaw, Ind., and Elizabeth Schindler, Ashland, will be in charge of the ticket sale. The Y. W. C. A. was told by Dr. Martin that "Religion is not something which one can put on when he finds it convenient, but is an eternal passion to give the best that one has." He stated that scientists now declare the foundation of all life is spiritual, an intangible something pulsing through the world. Mary Elizabeth King of Oakville, Ind., led in the devotional period and Sara Vanosdall of Ashland sang two solos.

"Wars can be destroyed" declared Dr. L. L. Garber as he addressed the Y. M. C. A. He upheld his statement by saying that if man has greater faith he can destroy the philosophy upon which war is based. Two other methods suggested is the belief that human nature is not basically warlike, proving to the world that there is no fighting instinct and by education destroying the race prejudice. He maintained that anarchy could by the same methods, be destroyed. Carlyle Ulrey of Nappanee conducted the devotional period.

FASHIONS FOR MEN TO PROVIDE LOTS OF COLOR

Peat Brown and Air Blue Are Among New Shades In Tailored Suitings.

Men's fashions for 1941 are predicted to provide a happy contrast to the gloomy international outlook, for the emphasis will be on color and the styles will lean toward sports and semi-sports wear.

Word comes from London that whenever the soldiers get a chance to climb into mufti, they make sure to get a touch of gayety, not only in their accessories, but in their suitings as well, and it is a safe bet that this trend to color will become increasingly popular here.

The shades of suitings which promise to find most favor during the spring and summer months are browns, tans and blues. Among the most popular of these should be a new color called peat brown, featuring a ruddiness that is ideal in worsted with simple chalk stripes.

A slightly different version is a rust color, excellent for sporty tweeds and also for more conservative business suits of softer fabrics. Indications are that this rust color will find favor with men of almost every preference, for it blends well with practically every shade of accessories, especially greens and blues.

Thus far there seems to be little indication that this war is going to have as marked an effect upon men's styles as the World war did, when the influence of military dress was obvious in the tight-fitting narrow-waisted civilian clothes of 1917 and '18. There are, of course, exceptions to this, although as yet the effect on men's suits is apparently limited to color instead of design.

Deep interest in Britain's Royal Air Force has given rise to a new shade of fabric called "Air Blue," which bids to rise to a peak of popularity during the spring and early summer months. One of the reasons why stylists predict such a happy future for "Air Blue" is that it can be worn with accessories of red and white, to fit in with the current surge of patritism.

Worsted suits in "Air Blue" with a three-button notched lapel jacket have already made their appearances in the South and have met with such universal approval that spring will undoubtedly find them extremely popular among better-dressed circles everywhere.

This does not mean, however, that the double-breasted jacket is falling out of favor. In rough materials like cheviots and tweeds and in softer fabrics like flannel, the double-breasted jacket seems even more popular than ever, with the lapel rolled down to the bottom of the two sets of buttons. In flannel suits the chalk stripe remains predominant, while tweeds again feature plaids.

Ideas for New Spring Ensemble Depicted Here

With the fast approach of Easter, milady is busy planning her springtime ensemble, and the downtown stores are filled with countless smart suggestions. Some gay, new fashion ideas are shown above as they were modeled by Miss Gerry Brightbill and Miss Joan Marquis. 1. For that popular military note, Miss Brightbill is modeling a tailored suit of light blue covert cloth. Fashioned with the new longer jacket, it closes with blue and silver military buttons and features a striped blouse of white, orange and blue. The sailor hat of rough blue straw is brightened by a gleaming insignia to match the buttons. 2. These black gabardine pumps are trimmed with touches of patent leather and bright gold beads. 3. For smart spectator sports wear, is this gown (worn by Miss Brightbill) of beige crepe, featuring a lined over-plaid of brown stitching and a brown suede fringed sash. The hat is a beige felt bonnet. 4. Sailor hats are going to be popular this spring, and this pert one of black straw is bedecked with pale pink feathers and a black veil. 5. A dressy afternoon ensemble is the one Miss Marquis is modeling. Of pale green silk crepe, the revers of the redingote are trimmed with dainty white lace, and the same lace forms the bodice of the frock. The large, off-the-face hat of black straw is edged with a wide band of soft felt in the shade of the gown. 6. This mandarin-type spring bonnet is of black straw, relieved by two pompons of white blossoms just over the ears, and a long lacy veil.

Spring Shirts To Give New Freedom In Dress For Men

Taking a tip from the distaff side men are beginning to acknowledge the virtues and freedom of comfortable clothing. There seems to be a growing trend afoot, manifested in the new Hull shirt: a white shirt which has a long pointed collar with the neckband considerably lower in front than in back. It is this sloping feature, cut into the shirt that makes it one of the most comfortable white shirts that has been brought to the attention of the American male public.

Too long men have been wearing collars that have looked like white swathed bandages tightly encircling their necks. This new departure will be a welcome change to most men, not only from the comfort standpoint but from the better-looking neckline.

Another innovation in men's shirts is the Double shirt, so named because of the dual purpose attached collar. This shirt has two pockets, a French front seam, and a long pointed sports collar that can be converted either for wear as a regular shirt with a tie, or open at the neck for active sports.

The English people's nickname, John Bull, first appeared in Arbuthnot's ludicrous "History of Europe."

DESIGNERS HAVE NEW TREATMENT FOR FURNITURE

Modern Trends Have Influence on All Styles; 3 Distinctive Types Are Listed.

Home furnishings styles of 1941 have crystalized into two distinct groups:

The best interpretation of contemporary or modern, since that style was introduced in this country in 1926.

A crisper, smaller-scaled type of 18th century mahogany, and early American maple.

These are the conclusions reached following an inspection of the new furnishings as received in the stores, following visits of buyers to the nation's home furnishings centers in January. The shipments of new merchandise have all arrived, and are now on display. The new merchandise is slightly, if any, more costly than previously, but sharper advances are likely from now on, due to increased costs of raw material and labor.

The "modern" furniture of today has lost the arcs and angles which characterized the first modern design, and the waterfall type which was greatly over-done, is gradually giving away to a streamlined architectural type. This is the indication one gets on a visit to local stores.

There are three distinct types of finish being used on the modern: a brown pencil-stripe walnut; a bleached finish for both mahogany and walnut—and some maple; and a dark Cordovan or ox-blood red tone. The bowed front is being used on dressers and chests, and old fashioned "pulls" are giving way to recessed slits, which are completely hidden, yet which make it easy to pull out drawers.

Every type of furniture is getting modern treatment. The old fashioned cedar chest has a modern counterpart in a storage console, which may be used with decorative success in any room in the home. There are combination bookcases and desks, which may be used in conjunction with sectional sofas, to completely line the walls of a room. Some beds have lost their headboards; others have upholstered head and feet.

It's distinctly American-modern, unrelated to earlier European styles. Its closest counterpart is the "Swedish modern" of a year or so ago, but all agree that the new flavor is distinctly "United States."

The traditional furniture of period design has taken on a more elegant note: Chippendale is giving way to Sheraton and Hepplewhite, with bowed fronts and attractive antiqued gold finish hardware pulls. The stores have a more adequate showing of 18th Century than formerly with a varied array from which to select.

Early American furniture is holding its own in popularity. The reddish brown finish prevalent for a number of years is showing some variation—a lighter note here, a darker note there, and here, too, the selection is more complete than formerly.

IT'S ALL-AMERICAN SPRING IN FASHIONS FOR THE YOUNGSTERS

It's an all-American story that fashion has in store for youngsters this spring. First of all—nauticals and more nauticals. From kindergarten age through high school, the trend is toward navy blue with glistening sleeve emblems and metal buttons; trim white piques with bright red stars; toward modern versions of those old favorites—the Peter Thompson and the middy blouse. Cowboys and Indians supply the next all-American trend that has inspired new spring clothes for children. And how they love them!

Fringes and Navajho designs on sweaters. Plenty of studded belts and fringed boleros, and some of the new juvenile slacks even have fringes down the sides, just like real chaps! Then, too, there are so many red, white and blue combinations that the children's wear departments of local stores will look like living, moving American flags.

Growing girls like clothes that "do" things. They like, particularly, the play suits that are designed as regular school dresses by an overskirt or jumper. These are economical to buy—for the girls will wear them to school for spring and will continue to wear them for sports during the summer. Girls are enthusiastic over dresses that may be worn with or without separate jerkins and there are plenty of new ones for spring. They like jackets and skirts that may be assembled with various blouses and shirts to make up a veritable wardrobe of combinations.

This year glen plaids in men's wear colors or gay pastels are most popular for jackets and skirts. If your daughter is teen age, be sure she has one of the longer, mannish jackets with convertible shirt collar. For dress-up occasions this spring, buy your teen age daughter a printed silk or rayon frock with a woolen jacket to match. The fabric manufacturers have made these ensembles possible by coordinating their silk and wool colors far in advance.

And this spring, let's not forget that fashions are a family affair. Girls love to dress like their mothers—so invest in at least one mother-and-daughter outfit.

AMERICAN-MADE FASHIONS HOLD STAGE CENTER

And Home Designing Will Take No Back Seat—It Reflects Tempo of Nation.

This spring American women can depend on the wearability of American designed fashions, particularly because those creating the styles are themselves American women, and men who know the pace and needs of daily life

The trend for spring for women is toward slim skirt lines even though they may be animated by pleats or gores the suggestion of a petticoat ruffle or harem drape Contrasts of color texture or printed and plain fabrics are in vogue, as are soft, draped lines, braid trims and lingerie accents

The spring fashion horizon is a colorful one, and although navy blue and beige are the basic leaders, they're certainly brightened by a riot of new shades One of the season's newest colors is 'red cent" which is being used in over so many accessories as emphasis for plum-tone costumes Also in the red shades is rhubarb pink ' And that's what it is too just about the shade of rhubarb to be worn with blue and that other new spring color purple violet ' and the lilac shades Fireweed red is another new accent note It's a bright vibrating red which can be worn flatteringly by both blondes and brunettes

As for fabrics, there's an endless variety of them in smooth and spongy sheers, Perosa type wools, angoras, spun rayons and rayon crepes, twills and gabardines, and the keynote of styling is for "soft shoulders." These are interpreted by means of dolman or kimono sleeves (usually short and draped) or the raglan sleeve.

Simple tailored frocks are softened by streamlined ruffles cascading down skirts and bodices and trimming necklines and sleeves while some dark sheers feature the new apron effects which are often short-fronted falling to a low point at the sides or back Bodice lines are longer than they have been in past seasons as are jackets but slim skirt-lines gain restrained fulness through many types of pleats (stitched down over the hips) or flared or draped front panels

Just as the sweater and skirt is the co-ed's uniform, the shirtwaist dress seems to have become the American woman's uniform, and all signs indicate that it will enjoy its usual popularity again this spring and summer In printed silk crepes, the silks and plain and printed shantungs, many of these spectator sports dresses feature buttoned coat-fronts.

And some notes for special attention this spring are the buttoned boleros veils on every chapeau tiny muted checks for woolen suits and coats three quarter length straightish sleeves the wrap-around slightly bloused coat or coat dress with flaring skirt hemstitched white frills and sleeved dinner-dresses with low V necklines and how they can travel!

Eight Balls of Fire

IF you like fireworks, and who doesn't, it's really too bad you can't see what goes on inside that sparkling big Buick FIREBALL eight that romps you so easily down the broad highway.

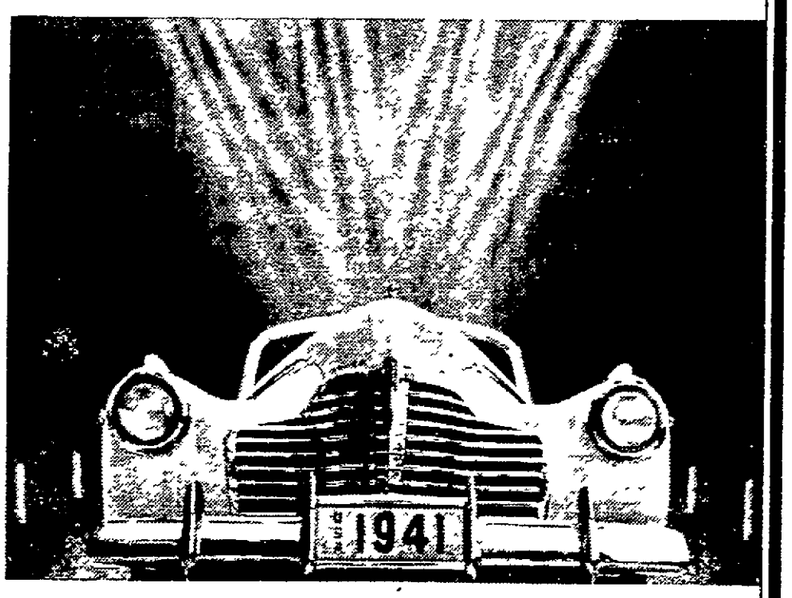
There you'd see eight busy cylinders, with pistons flashing up and down . . .

You'd see each fuel charge packed tight into a tiny bundle shaped like a flattened ball . . .

You'd see the spark leap, the flame spread, the piston thrust down with extra force as each furious fireball lets go its pent-up wallop.

You'd see all this happening as fast as thirty times a second in each of those eight cylinders—and we think you'd understand then just why there's such a special and exciting satisfaction in the way a Buick travels.

Gasoline gives up more of its power when it's packed as tightly as it is here.



That special, flattened-ball shape of the compressed fuel charge means smoother, better burning, full focus of the power on the piston head, where it counts.

So when you've got these eight balls of fire working busily under the bonnet, you really travel!

You travel farther on every gallon; you travel more pleasurably.

You travel—but, shucks! Why listen to talk when there's a Buick dealer nearby waiting to show you how you travel behind a FIREBALL?

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

"The Authority on Authorities"

RECOGNIZING A FRIEND

WE ALL LIKE to meet old friends, especially when we recognize them and they recognize us Certain combinations of the cards are like that. When they bob up again, we are like the judge on the bench who says to the culprit in the prisoner's dock: "Haven't I seen you before?" That judge may remember just What he did on the previous occasion and how it worked out, and so handles the case that much more efficiently. Shouldn't it be just the same with the bridge hand, or suit combination, whose counterpart we have encountered in times past?

That bidding is imaginary, by a pair of Blackwooders. Actually, this hand was sent in by Leonard LaForce, from the Handy Diner in Pittsburgh, who asked if the heart slam can be made against a lead of the club K. Bridge memories, by some of us fellows who study the game professionally, are funny things. Seldom do we forget a hand, though we cannot always recall where we encountered it.

Is that a hand featured by the old-timer, Milton C. Work, who died some eight years ago? Or by the veteran Sidney S. Lenz? Or by your humble servant some years back? The fact escapes us, but the hand itself is clear as a bell for a perfect example of the trump shortening coup whereby we discard a blocking card on a trump.

South takes the club K with the A, discarding a diamond from dummy so as to leave the spade 7 for a ruffer. He leads the heart 3 to the A, the spade 7 ruffed by the heart 4, the heart 5 to the K, the spake Q ruffed by the heart 7, the heart 10 to the Q, the heart J dropping West's last trump while discarding the diamond K, the spade A for a discard of the diamond A, and then the now unblocked five diamonds in the dummy. Yes, the 7-Hearts can be made, and how!

"Pitfalls of Love"

(A Sequel to Marriage Meddlers)

By ADELE GARRISON

Ronald gave me a long searching look.

"Are you telling me everything you know about this?" he asked.

I flushed, with the consciousness of having kept from him Carolyn's very pertinent connection with Marion's disappearance.

There was no time or reason for further parley, with Marion in such danger, and I faced him steadily.

"No, Ronald, I have not told you everything," I said slowly. "There is something very pertinent to this in certain of Carolyn's actions - I assure you it will be of no use to try to get anything out of her she is frightened half out of her senses as it is-"

"Frightened?" Ronald repeated "Why? By whom?"

I took a firm grip upon my resolution.

"Look here, Ronald!" I said, "time is of the utmost importance in this thing. We haven't a minute of it to waste. My father is already setting in motion everything at his command in order to get a line on the man who was with Marion—he thinks he knows who it is. But he must have all the cards in his hands. Marion's life may depend upon that. Suppose we lay ours upon the table. I have the same scruples about telling you things about your sister, as you have in revealing what Marion wrote you. But honestly, I don't think we can let those scruples rule us in this case. Now, I will tell you what I know about Carolyn's actions, and I want you to show me Marion's letter, not read it to me. I want to read it myself."

He started up so abruptly that he upset his chair.

"Oh! oh! I never could do that," he cried. "That would be despicable."

"Not when Marion's life is at stake," I told him steadily. "In almost any other case, yes. But I do not think you have any choice. Believe me, dear boy, this request is as abhorrent for me to make as it is for you to grant. But I must ask you to show me that letter, for Marion's safety."

He began to walk up and down the room, his hands twisting together. And I, watching him, bent all the mental faculty I had to "willing" that he should see my viewpoint. I had not much faith in the process, but it was all I could do at the moment.

He flung himself into his chair after two or three minutes of pacing, and covered his face with his hands. When he took them down again, his face was ravaged but calm and determined.

"I can see your point," he said, "and a little later, I promise you I'll show you the letter But not just now I've got to nerve myself up to it. Will you forgive me, and tell me what Carol has to do with this mess."

"There is no question of forgiveness, Ronald. I'll wait your own time for showing me the letter, knowing that you will not delay too long. But I warn you that what I have to tell you about Carolyn won't make pleasant hearing The only explanation I can think of for her conduct is that she is also terrorized by some unknown miscreants."

His lips set tightly, then opened for crisp speech.

"Go ahead' I'm listening," he said, and I hurried into the saga of our adventures with Carolyn, from our first meeting with her in the railway station at Weirhampton to our delivery of her to her parents' home, omitting no detail of her attempts to elude us, her story to the young police officer that Dicky and I were attempting to kidnap her for ransom, and her continued attempts to get in touch with the young gangster who with his companion had tried to abduct her from our car.

I did not realize how revealing my story was until Ronald said heavily:

"How well she must know him! It's unbelievable! First Marion, and now Carolyn! My little sister!"

You Can't Print That!

(A compendium of tales that can't be told with names, because they're too true to print. If you see in them any resemblance to actual persons, living or dead — you've probably guessed right!)

* * *

LITA and her older sister, Barbara, were kid stars in musical comedy and in vaudeville. Both their futures looked bright, but everyone considered Lita the prettier and more talented, so it was hard to understand why Barbara became a film star while Lita faded into obscurity. It got so Lita couldn't even hold a job in a chorus because she was addicted to fits of temperament and uncontrollable tears.

No one ever knew the sad story behind Lita's faded career.

When she was still in her teens, she had fallen in love with Zeke, one of a group of brothers who were great comedy stars on the stage and in motion pictures.

Zeke loved Lita, too. He was married and had a daughter just a few years younger than Lita, but his mad infatuation made him forget his family completely. He planned to get a divorce and marry her.

One day Zeke kissed Lita goodbye in New York and set off for Hollywood, where he and his brothers were to make their first starring picture under a lucrative new contract. Lita was wild with happiness.

But her world came suddenly to an end one night a few weeks later when Zeke called her long distance and told her: "You've got to forget me."

His brothers, it developed, were furious at his intention to divorce his wife and leave his family. It would hurt their careers, they said. So they handed him an ultimatum:

"Go back to your wife and child. Give up Lita or we won't let you work with us any more."

Zeke felt there was no alternative for him. He had never performed alone, and he was afraid to try.

Lita has never been the same since. For years she carried one of the all-time torches of Broadway history, and even today she bears the scars of bitterness and resentment.

That's why, perhaps, she laughed so loudly—yet so mirthlessly—when a few weeks ago she read in her favorite newspaper that (ten years after this heartbreaking long distance call) Zeke had divorced his wife. And then he had also divorced himself from his brothers' professional activities and started out on his own!

But you can't print that. Zeke and Lita are practically strangers now. And her life is in the stage now where it can never be mended, so why remind her that Zeke—like everything else in the world—doesn't matter to her any more.

* * *

MARCIA is a rare and lovely thing—a woman without a single harsh or feline quality.

As an actress she is in a class by herself, and as a person she is unequalled for gentleness, kindness and generosity. The theater has been good to her, and she should be worth a fortune, but of course she isn't — because her quiet charities have steadily reduced her bank account.

No one who knows her could ever imagine Marcia doing even a small thing to hurt another person. She weeps for beggars in the street, sighs over stray dogs, and breaks her heart over children who look thin or poorly clad. And this is no act — she plays Lady Bountiful to total strangers, expecting no reward, not even thanks.

Some time ago the local columnists were surprised to receive a sharp dispatch from Marcia informing them that the young girl who claimed to be her daughter was an impostor. Not one of the scribes doubted Marcia's word, and those who knew her well felt her patience must have been sorely tried to cause her to take such stern measures against the young girl.

The truth is that the young girl is—beyond any doubt—Marcia's daughter. Marcia loves her dearly and is inordinately proud of her. While Marcia toured the country in her record-breaking hit dramas, the little girl stayed in Atlanta, where she was reared quietly and well by a devoted aunt. And when one day she came to New York and tried to get a job in a Broadway show, Marcia was proud and delighted.

Then the columns began to print references to the daughter, comparing her with Marcia and commenting on the fact that she was old enough to embark on a career of her own.

Marcia's mother, Mrs. A, read the items and decided that this publicity was killing Marcia's career, since Marcia's stock-in-trade had always been a misty, romantic beauty and a youthful manner. So she ordered Marcia to send the dispatches disclaiming the young daughter—and Marcia, who still believes "mother knows best," obeyed, hurting her daughter deeply and sending her back to oblivion in Atlanta.

But you can't print that. Marcia is so gentle she'd rather "take the rap" herself than have anyone think her mother tyrannical and unkind.

HOLLYWOOD

—By Robbin Coons

HOLLYWOOD — Roly-poly, extra-chinned Alfred Hitchcock has been hit where it hurts. He has been miffed.

"There's no reason," he said, aggrieved, "why a director should be typed. Just because . . ."

ROBBIN COONS

Many critics took exception to Hitchcock's "Mr. and Mrs. Smith." Many were disappointed (as was this guileless bystander) that "Mr. and Mrs. Smith" wasn't a "Rebecca" of comedy, a "Foreign Correspondent" of laughs.

"Directors do get typed," said Hitchcock, "but there's no sense to it. Right now John Ford is tied to the soil and the sea. Ernst Lubitsch is labeled the naughty sophisticate. I do mystery and suspense, so I can't do a comedy. It's silly. I don't really care, of course—"Mr. and Mrs. Smith' is doing fine at the box-office."

* * *

Hitchcock undertook the comedy, he said, more or less as an interlude — or a prelude to his present work, "Before the Fact," or "Fright" as they're now calling it. It is decidedly not a comedy. The "cattle" in it— Hitchcock delights in labeling his actors "cattle"—include Joan Fontaine, Cary Grant, Nigel Bruce and Bruce's wife, Violet Shelton, Clive Brook's daughter Faith, and another pretty young English actress named Carol Curtis Brown.

"I hope," said Hitchcock of his new film, "you will help to spread the word that it is awful. That it stinks."

He was referring to the too glowing advance reports on "Mr. and Mrs. Smith."

* * *

Then, forgetting his miff and his hurt, Hitchcock turned again to the scene — in which Misses Shelton, Brown and Brook on the steps of an English country church have just discovered that Fontaine and Grant, who started to services with them, are missing. "Fright" is the story of a wife who suspects her husband wants to murder her.

After the fourth take, Hitchcock pronounced with genial acidity: "In all confidence I can assure you it is getting worse" and the company, breaking into laughter broke for lunch.

STUDY NEW TAX ON PAY CHECKS OF AMERICANS

Congress Considers 5 Per Cent Tax on Weekly Earnings To Pay British Aid.

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON —Congressional fiscal experts, casting about for new revenue sources to help pay for the $7,000,000,000 British aid program, were reported considering today the possibility of imposing a 5 per cent tax on the weekly pay of most of the nation's workers.

If such a 5 per cent "earned income" tax should be levied, that amount would be deducted for the government each week from the pay envelopes of a large proportion of jobhilders. Thus a worker now receiving $40 weekly would get, instead, $38 and a tax receipt for $2. Small wage earners—possibly those receiving $25 weekly or less—would be exempted.

Although it was emphasized this proposal was merely in the discussion stage and might never mature, responsible individuals who have been studying the plan said they had received estimates that a 5 per cent levy on this nature would raise $3,500,000,000 yearly.

Acknowledging that the proposal might arouse a storm of protest from wage earners, advocates said it would have to be accompanied by commensurate increases in taxes upon incomes from investments, rentals and other sources so that there could be no discrimination.

It would entail, they pointed out also, a reversal of previous administration policy of easing taxes on wage earners as much as possible and for that reason was expected to elicit little support at the treasury or White House.

Against this suggestion for an invasion of a new field of revenue, Chairman Harrison (D.,Miss.) of the senate finance committee told reporters that he personally felt that present taxes should be revised upward without attempting to bring in untried levies.

Estimated that congress might be asked to provide an additional $1,500,000,000 in new revenue this session, Harrison said he felt there might be some justifiable increases in excess profits levies and normal corporation tax, as long as rates were not boosted so high that they would hurt business and result in reduced, rather than boosted, revenues.

LAY ROAD PLANS

Commissioners Set Right-of-Way for WPA Paving Project.

Preparing the way for reconstructing the Mill Run road south of Lexington under a WPA project, Richland county commissioners today had established a right-of-way for widening the road.

Action was taken at the request of Troy township trustees who asked for improvement of the road for approximately one and a half miles south from Lexington corporation limit.

Commissioners authorized payment of $75 in two damage claims submitted by owners of property along the right-of-way. Russell C. Spayde will receive $50 and James Young $25.

Estimated cost of the improvement under WPA is $28,000.

The month-long campaign will be launched Monday by the bureau of unemployment compensation, Administrator H. C. Atkinson announced today.

HANDLE 350 TAX REPORTS A DAY

Income Tax Deputies Have To Hustle, With Only 3 Days Left to File Reports.

With only three days remaining before the deadline Saturday to file income tax reports, deputy collectors in the internal revenue office on the second floor of the post office reported that approximately 350 persons a day were making out returns at the local offices.

Because of the lower income brackets reached by the income tax, this year, approximately one third more returns are being filed in Mansfield this year than in the past. Exact figures on the comparative returns of past years are not available, deputy collectors stated.

The internal revenue offices will remain open each afternoon until 4:30 p. m. until Saturday, deadline day. The office will remain open Saturday until 9 a. m., deputy collectors said.

WAR DEPARTMENT SAYS TEXAS SENDS MOST MEN INTO ARMY

(By United Press)

WASHINGTON — Texas, although ranking sixth in population, provided more enlisted soldiers for the army during the first half of the current fiscal year than any other state, war department statistics revealed today.

Texas contributed 18,752 of the 196,560 men who enlisted in the regular army for three year periods from July 1, 1940 to Jan. 1, 1941.

Pennsylvania, ranking second in population, was second in enlistments with 14,567 men. New York, the largest state, was third in enlistments with 13,860. Illinois, third in population, was fourth in enlistments with 8,872 men, while Kentucky, 16th in population, contributed 7,563 enlistments for fifth place.

Nevada, ranking 49th (including the District of Columbia) in population, contributed the fewest enlistments also with 189. Delaware, rated 47th in population, held 48th position in enlistments with 301.

Official compilations for the first two and one half months of 1941 are not yet available by states, but authoritative quarters said approximately 26,000 men have enlisted in the regular army since July 1, 1940. The total strength of the army is 1,003,500 officers and men.

Mansfield Athlete Gets Army Air Corps Appointment.

Michael Theodore Linta, 340 East Second street, was among 118 Ohioans who today were awarded army flying cadet scholarships to America's "West Points of the Air," at Tulsa and Muskogee, Okla.

"Mike is used to being up in the air," commented Harry Mehock, track coach of Mansfield high school.

"He was a pole-vaulting star on our track team for three years, and was Big Ten champion in his sophomore year at Ohio State two years ago. He dropped out of school last fall."

Mike is a brother of Johnny Linta, who holds the national high school pole vault record, made while a member of Mansfield high school team. He has been ordered to report to the Tulsa field.

Also assigned to Tulsa was Don Scott, Ohio State's star football quarterback of last fall.

Laff-a-Day

"The kitchen is yours this evening to try all those recipes you've wanted to cook, dear."

Acting as secretary of the Johnny Appleseed Boy Scout Area council for the 24th year since the establishment of the organization in Mansfield, C. W. Lindeman today dropped into Boy Scout headquarters to check records and bring facts and figures up to date. Lindeman was one of the sponsors of the Boy Scout movement in Mansfield. He cut a vacation short recently to attend the annual meeting of the council, and today found him about the annual business of checking the reports of the council, which are kept at Boy Scout headquarters

Miss Helen Baughman, clerk in the Mansfield police department, received much advice but little help yesterday as she attempted to make her way to work over icy streets. After three falls and a half, Helen managed to get past the county courthouse where several office-workers kept count of the many mishaps of the morning. Today, she suffered little more than a sore arm and ruffled dignity.

After more than 50 selective service board members, clerks, and physicians had listened to talks by state draft leaders and asked questions for three hours last night in the Chamber of Commerce rooms, some one in the back of the room changed the serious note of the meeting with "Can we go out now and get a drink?" Major Guy Mills, chief state occupational advisor, said he had no objections and then added: "And don't forget that this is my birthday."

If parking meters haven't already done it, Dorothea Grimes and the sisters Bacon—Dorothy and Jane—can tell city officials about a very practical method of extricating automobiles from traffic tangles. The trio was driving on Park avenue west the other evening when their car skidded as they pulled up to a traffic light. There was quite a jumble involving three automobiles and the girls found their bumper neatly locked under one of the other cars. There was a police cruiser handy and patrolmen came to the rescue. But the girls say that isn't the answer. A big automobile jack does the trick. That's what the policemen used to free the car.

ASKS $25,000

Administrator of Estate Seeks Crash Death Damages.

A $25,000 damage suit against Herbert L. Walters, R. D. 3, had been filed in common pleas court today by Atty. John L. Catlett, administrator of the estate of Thomas Dugan, Philadelphia, Pa., who died of injuries suffered in a traffic crash March 9, 1940, on route 42 northeast of Mansfield.

In his action, Atty. Catlett contends Walters made a left turn without warning in front of the car in which Dugan was riding, causing the accident and fatally injuring Dugan.

Dugan was riding with Myrle E. Stark of Ashland who was seriously injured when his car overturned. The petition contends that Dugan had three dependents who were left without means of support when Dugan died. Atty. Galen Renkenberger, Mansfield, is Catlett's counsel.

PROPOSAL FOR NEW FORCE HAS WIDE SUPPORT

Proponents Get Jump on Those Who Want Enlargement of State Patrol.

(By United Press)

COLUMBUS — Forces backing establishment of a state guard got the jump on proponents of an enlarged highway patrol today as the senate was asked to pass a bill providing for a guard of 1,000 to 4,800 men.

The measure was given a good chance of passage because it is sponsored by the American Legion and has the endorsement of both C. I. O. and A. F. L. groups.

It was believed that the administration has tentatively switched its support to a guard rather than enlarging the patrol to 500 officers equipped with emergency police powers as a substitute for the Ohio national guard.

Governor Bricker's budget contemplates the return of the national guard next year. In his budget he set aside $700,000 for a national guard substitute this year.

Labor interests have previously voiced the only objection to a state guard, although many house members, both Republican and Democratic—especially from the rural areas favor the bigger highway patrol.

Other centers of legislative action were:

1. Continued Republican-Democratic disputes over the administration's plan to continue local government shares in sales tax revenues at $12,000,000 annually, although the bill will not be acted upon until next week.

2. A bill to create a $20,000,000 state institutional building authority introduced by Senator O. E. Whitacre, D., Stark.

Senator James Metzenbaum, D., Cuyahoga, who claimed authorship of the bill but requested Whitacre to introduce it for him, stated that the provisions for the authority in the bill would eliminate points which caused the state supreme court to declare unconstitutional two previous building authorities.

Speaker William M. McCulloch, R., Miami, said passage of the Hunter guard bill by the senate would provoke immediate action in the house.

If the bill passes, he said, early house committee hearings will be held on both guard and patrol measures with prior attention being given the guard measures.

Senator Frank E. Whittemore, R., Summit, Republican majority leader, said there was "no hurry" to seek passage of the sales tax bill and that it probably would be placed on the calendar early next week.

Driver of Car to Face Charges of Assault Tomorrow

Accused of striking Oliver C. Stoner, northern Richland county farmer, with an automobile jack handle following a traffic accident early Tuesday near Rome, James Urie, 20, of Shiloh, R. D. 1, is scheduled to go before Common Pleas Judge C. H. Huston at 9:30 a. m. Friday on a charge of assault and battery.

At a preliminary hearing yesterday afternoon, Urie could offer no explanation of the alleged attack on Stoner who went to help Urie after the youth's car crashed into a bridge. Judge Huston continued the hearing to permit officers to bring in more witnesses.

"Urie admitted he knew Stoner, but he said there was no ill feeling between them," Prosecutor Harold Lutz said.

Persons living near the accident scene told Sheriff Frank E. Robinson that Stoner was knocked down by a blow on the side of the face while he helped Urie put out a fire in the rear seat of Urie's car. The fire was believed to have started after Urie's car crashed into a cement culvert. Urie was not hurt. Stoner suffered burns on his hands, Lutz said.

Urie was taken into custody by Deputy Sheriff C. C. Gongwer a considerable distance from the accident. He explained that he was looking for help, although Stoner had offered to help him, Sheriff Robinson said. The youth is in the county jail.

ROAD WEIGHT LIMITS FIXED

Richland Commissioners Fix Load Regulations For Spring Season.

As a safeguard for Richland county roads during the spring thaws, county commissioners today had set a load limit of four and one-half tons for vehicles with steel or hard rubber tires and six tons for those with pneumatic tires.

Notices of the load limits will be posted throughout the county, and Sheriff Frank E. Robinson was asked to help enforce the ruling. The new load limits include the weight of the truck or wagon.

The state highway department called for a 25 per cent reduction in load limits on approximately half of the state routes. The highway department and state highway patrol will cooperate in enforcing the ruling.

Maps showing the routes on which the new weight limits are effective have been distributed to trucking firms, automobile clubs, county commissioners, and the highway department's 12 division offices, Highway Director Hal G. Sours said.

It is expected that the limits will be in effect until freezing weather is over, probably about May 1.

WEATHER HITS WATER PROJECT

Traffic on Glassner avenue between Mulberry and Crouse streets will be rerouted until the end of the week, W. C. Statler, city engineer, announced today.

The street was closed Tuesday to allow city workers to tap a connection into a recently constructed water main. Water service was suspended Tuesday morning but was turned on at 11 a. m.

Statler said that the weather would prevent workers from completing the job until Friday or Saturday. He said that activity yesterday was so restricted by the weather that it was decided to wait until the storm had passed.

GOOD FOOD HERE

NEWFANE, Vt.—(U.P.)—Charles Whitney manages Windham County's combination jail and hotel but has no trouble with his two classes of patrons.

The jail accommodates 25 and is attached to the two-and-one-half story wooden hotel which Whitney leases from the county. Food cooked in the hotel kitchen supplies both prisoners and guests.

Whitney's busiest seasons are April and September when the county court convenes. At that time the hotel is filled with judges and jurors and the jail with prisoners awaiting trial.

LUMBERMENS AT ALL-TIME HIGH, REPORT SHOWS

Keating Re-elected President of Company; Three Board Members Re-named.

Charles H. Keating was re-elected president and general manager of the Lumbermens Mutual Insurance company yesterday after policy holders elected directors at the 46th annual meeting at the home office here. He has served as the company's head for the past eight years.

The company's report for 1940 showed substantial gains in assets, premiums and insurance in force.

Policy holders re-elected three directors whose three-year terms had expired. They are E. S. Nail, Mansfield; C. A. Hubbard, Martinsville, Ind.; and H. E. Stone, Boston, Mass.

Following the policy holders meeting, the new board of directors elected the following officers: E. S. Nail, chairman of the board; H. S. Black and S. F. Coffin, vice presidents; C. E. Nail, vice president and assistant general manager; W. H. G. Kegg, secretary; and D. P. Smith, treasurer and assistant secretary.

Also serving on the board of directors are P. P. Parker, Findlay; R. H. Campbell, Toledo; C. P. Hagenmeyer, Cincinnati; and P. M. Eliot, Mansfield.

An all-time high in the history of the company was reported by President Keating in his report. He listed the amount of insurance in force, resulting from an increase of more than $75,000,000 during the year, at $626,292,620; premiums, with a $350,000 gain, at $3,964,357, and a gain of more than $165,000 in the company's assets for a total of $3,523,176.

Officials announced that the company is now licensed to operate in 43 states, the Dilstrict of Columbia and four provinces of Canada.

Directors, guests and many employes of the company held a luncheon at the Mansfield-Leland hotel preceding the policy holders meeting.

Students Taught Intricacies of Free Ballooning

AKRON—(INS)—Balloon flight training may sound rather prosaic in these days of stream-lined, high-powered areonautics, but 17 young men in training at the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Co., are quite serious about lighter-than-air operations.

The students, hand-picked from a big list of applicants, are preparing to play a big role in national defense, and although they are being trained by private enterprise rather than the U. S. army, official believes they will be ready for any emergency.

The course consists of two schools—flight and ground. If the student gets through the Goodyear course, however, he is capable of passing the physical, educational and actual flight training requirements established by the U. S. Naval Reserve.

Karl L. Fickes, manager of Goodyear's airship operations, is in charge of the course.

Salt Lake City Schools Utopia For 'Peck's Bad Boy.'

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah—(U.P.)—Those who recall the days when a birch rod was punishment for infraction of school rules agreed "those days have gone forever" after reading new rules and regulations compiled by Salt Lake City school teachers.

Not only do the new regulations forbid any form of corporal punishment — actually abandoned years ago—but the teacher is forbidden to keep pupils after school unless permission is obtained from the school principal.

Nor are teachers permitted to punish pupils by keeping them in class during recesses or lunch periods. And pupils are not allowed to bring presents to school for a favorite teacher.

But the second joint is badly bruised, and the digit likely will still be tender when he enters the national amateur boxing championships at Boston late this month.

* * *

The Chicago Golden Gloves tourney was full of surprises for the pride of Mansfield's Friendly House, but the biggest surprise came when he returned home and was told by his friends that the radio announcer mentioned his name only twice in the second round of his final bout with defending champion Harold Dade, who was given the nod.

"Why, I fought my best fight in that second round," Paul declares, "and if I won any round in the tournament it was that one."

Paul is modest enough about his ring accomplishments, and getting information from him is like pulling teeth, your own teeth. You know he isn't boasting or alibiing.

* * *

"I know I won that bout with Dade," he says. "He was the easiest opponent I had at Chicago. But he was well beaten by a Mexican boy in the early bouts and still got the nod. An old Chicago boxer warned me before the fight: If you want the decision over Dade you'll have to knock him out."

* * *

Fight judges who lean to home-town decisions are doing no favor to the fight game or to the home-town boxer. Nothing will keep fistic filberts away from the gate in larger numbers than the knowledge that home-town decisions will be given on the slightest excuse.

"After the bout," Carbetta says, "the judges were slow in giving their decision. One judge looked across the ring at another, and seemed completely bewildered. Then he looked at the referee, and when the referee pointed to Dade I knew the answer."

The Tiffin Advertiser-Tribune, reporting the Mansfield-Tiffin Columbian game at the Sandusky tournament, declared Jack Shiplet of the Tygers was the cleverest bucketballer the Columbians had faced this winter.

I passed along the word separately to Mansfield Coaches Hoffman, Snyder and Mehock. All took it calmly, so calmly they put a damper on my youthful enthusiasm.

* * *

Their separate replies were as pat as though they had been rehearsed:

"I'm not a bit surprised."

Gosh, I knew the kid was good, and so, evidently, did they. But you'd think they'd be a little excited over the fact that someone else had found it out.

Boots Puts Best Foot Forward

BATON ROUGE, La. —(AP)— Elwood Cletus (Boots) Poffenberger, passed over in the draft because of his reputation although his 1940 record was exceptional, today joined Van Lingle Mungo as a reform candidate for the big leagues.

The former eccentric pitcher for Detroit and Brooklyn, now training here with the Nashville Volunteers of the Southern Association, drew up a simple one-plank platform.

"I'm through with that bad boy stuff," he said.

Like Mungo the Brooklyn fireballer who was banished Sunday from the Dodgers' training camp at Havanna for breaking training and ordered to join Montreal, Poffenberger declared he was pointing for the big time again.

ORLANDO, Fla. — (AP) — The Washington Senators dropped both their exhibitions to the New York Giants, but Manager Bucky Harris found satisfaction in yesterday's pitching anyway.

BUTLER BULLDOGS TO BATTLE ATTICA

Butler's Bulldogs, returning to the Bascom Class B high school hoop joust tomorrow night, meet Attica in the semi-final round of the district tourney.

They'll return to the Bascom court Saturday night, win, lose or draw. Winners of tomorrow night's games meet for the championship Saturday, and losers play off a consolation tilt.

Little Thunder Vexes Bradley

Roy Weatherly's Silence Perplexes Prexy.

CLEVELAND — (AP) —President Alva Bradley of the Cleveland Indians is vexed and perplexed by the silent holdout campaign being conducted by Roy (Little Stormy) Weatherly, fleet center fielder.

When last reported Weatherly had left Hot Springs, Ark., his destination unknown. Previous to departing he busied himself mailing back unsigned contracts without enclosing any messages.

* * *

"We can't come to terms with him when we don't know what he wants," Bradley said early today before boarding a train for Florida. "He wrote about 15 words on the back of the first contract we sent him mentioning a two-year contract.

* * *

"Because of the war situation we aren't giving any of those. We explained that, but he refuses to say how much money he wants.

"We'll just sit tight until the boy decides to talk."

Bradley returned from the Indians' Ft. Myers camp only a few days ago. He said the Indians looked good in training but "I won't predict a pennant until we are 10 games in front with one game to play."

Weatherly was believed to have received about $6,500 last season. He had one of his best years, hitting .303 to become the only Cleveland regular to go above 300.

Manager Roger Peckinpaugh has been using Clarence Campbell, but the youngster's inexperience and inferior fielding ability make him an inadequate replacement for Weatherly, rated one of the best defensive center fielders in the American league.

$343,245 Entry Fees Posted By Keglers.

ST. PAUL, Minn. — (U P) — The American Bowling Congress, with nearly 30,000 contestants and $250,000 in prizes, opens tonight on the 40 gleaming alleys of the Municipal auditorium.

Tournament officials said the 1941 ABC would be the second largest in the congress' history, exceeded only by the 1940 meet at Detroit.

* * *

Two five-man teams from Flin Flon, Manitoba, in the Arctic Circle, will be among the first night competitors.

* * *

From tonight until May 6 the pins will fly for 16 hours daily under the assault of 5,798 five-man teams representing 865 communities in 38 states and four Canadian provinces. These teams with the 9,790 doubles and 20,079 singles entrants have posted $343,245 in entry fees for the privilege in competing in the bowlers' world series.

Championships which will be at stake are the Monarch Beers, Chicago, team title, the double title of Herbert Frietag and Joe Sinke, Chicago, the singles title of Ray Brown, Terre Haute, Ind., and the all-events crown of Fred Fischer, Buffalo, N. Y. All will be on hand, although no champion ever has defended his title successfully in the 41-year history of the congress.

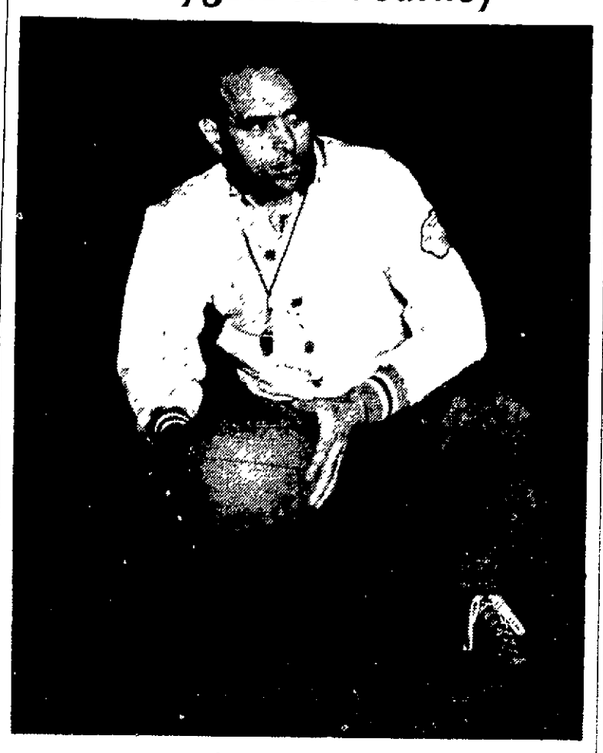
* * *

When final scores are posted approximately a quarter-million dollars will be divided into about 46,750 prizes. The high-score team will be $1,500 richer and doubles and singles winners will get $300 apiece. The all-events champion will win $200.

* * *

There will be 450 prizes to booster teams, which are five-man teams with an average of 850 or less, 950 prizes to regular five-man teams, 1,744 awards in the two-man events, and 3,600 prizes for individuals.

Tutors Tygers In Tourney



VERN HOFFMAN

After a disappointing start, Coach Hoffman has seen his Mansfield high Tygers stage a remarkable comeback to even their season's record to date at 10 victories and the same number of defeats, and reach the point where they are now regarded as having at least an even chance of winning the Sandusky district tournament. The Tygers meet Fremont Ross' dangerous Little Giants in the tourney semi-finals tomorrow night.

BOWLING SCORES

City A league keglers were smacking those pins around last night, and no foolin'!

Orlie Grable led the attack with 206-239-233—678 for high total, and Jim Dunn was just two pins behind with 222-265-189 — 676. Dunn's second game was high for the league.

Babe Meder chalked 186-236-244—666 and George Gump scrambled the wood for 232-212-212—656.

And the 600 scores kept coming. Carl Wiseman rolled a 628, Win Cleckner 610 and Farrell Hipp 607.

Three Teams Battle Way to State Meet

Scots Cop All-Ohio Honors

Awarded Three First Team Positions.

By FRIT ZHOWELL

COLUMBUS — (AP) — Wooster's Scots, knocked off the Ohio conference throne this year for the first time in three seasons, made up for that setback today by placing three stars on the 1941 Associated Press all-league honorary team.

* * *

The state's coaches, sports writers and officials had no doubts at all about the individual caliber of the conference standouts as they voted Gilbert Hole, Dick Gernert and Frank Grenert of the Scots to first-string positions, along with George Keel of Ohio Northern and Charles Joachim of the champion Mt. Union Raiders.

* * *

Hole and Gernert, the forwards, repeated from the 1940 all-star team, while center Grenert moved up from the second string. Keel, the midget of the squad, also hopped from the second team of last year, while Joachim, only junior selected, leaped all the way from last season's honorable mention list.

The Mounts, handed the title on a silver platter as Muskingum flattened Wooster in the season's finale, placed men on the first, second and third teams. The Raiders came close to getting two on the first team, Grenert just nosing out Stanley Baughman for the center position.

The Associated Press acted only as "vote counter," the players receiving the greatest number of ballots from the coaches, sports writers and officials getting the upper berths.

* * *

Wittenberg's scintillating star and most valuable player, Cliff Heskett, and Ashland's Jim Richcreek retained the second team positions they won a year ago. Augspurger of Otterbein, graduate of the 1940 third team, Baughman, and Muskingum's Everett rounded out the second squad.

* * *

Hole, son of the Wooster coach, "Mose" Hole, led the squad in scoring with 223 points, Joachim finishing second with 219 despite the fact he was out of one game with an injured ankle. Heskett, second stringer, had 282 for 22 games.

The selections:

FIRST TEAM

Player	College	Position
Gilbert Hole,	Wooster	Forward
Dick Gernert,	Wooster	Forward
Frank Grenert	Wooster	Center
George Keel,	Ohio Northern	Guard

TAKES THREE CUTS, AND READY TO PLAY

SARASOTA, Fla.—(AP)—There was some question about what condition Catcher Ernie Lombardi would be in when he ended his holdout and showed up at the camp of the Cincinnati Reds. But his pal, Eddie Joost, described it like this:

"He puts on a uniform, he grabs a bat, steps up to the plate, hits three pitches on a line to the outfield, and says, 'Well, I'm ready.' And he is!"

DEPENDS ON "HUMP"

PASADENA, Calif.—(AP)—Manager Jimmy Dykes expects Johnny Humphries, pitcher from Cleveland, to take over Johnny Rigney's starting role for the Chicago White Sox if last year's 15-game winner is drafted. Right now, however, Humphries is a flu victim, along with five teammates. Catcher Mike Tresh, hit on the head by a bat last Sunday, also came down with the flu yesterday.

Bulldogs Reach Finals

Canton McKinley and Massillon Win, Timken Edged By Tigers.

COLUMBUS —(U.P.)— Canton McKinley, runner-up for the state title last year, Massillon, a semi-finalist, and Springfield township, one of three unbeaten Class A teams in the state, today became the first teams to qualify for the Class A division of the state high school basketball tourney at Columbus next week.

* * *

They captured their berths last night in final games of the Northeastern district meet at Akron. McKinley, loser in only one game this season, swamped Barberton, 53 to 23; Massillon edged Canton Timken, 26 to 24, and Springfield Twp. turned back Elyria, 38 to 28, for its 20th consecutive victory this season.

* * *

Middletown, one of the other unbeaten Class A fives, marked up win No. 19 by defeated Dayton Fairview, 40 to 23, and barring Fairview from the state meet for the first time in three years. Fairview, incidentally, became the ninth of 6 defending Class A district champions to fall in district playoffs this month.

By downing Barberton, Canton McKinley won its 10th trip to the state meet. The Bulldogs have been in the state tournament more than any team in the state but have never captured the title. Last year McKinley was defeated in the finals by New Philadelphia, 30 to 22.

* * *

Massillon received a scare last night when it lost its stellar guard, Horace Gillom, in the first minute of the fourth quarter and trailing by three points, 15 to 12. The Tigers rallied however, to win by two points. Massillon made eight of 11 free throws.

* * *

Springfield Township clinched its game with Elyria with a fourth quarter 15 point surge and won the Spartans their first trip to the state meet.

In the feature game of the Northwestern district Class A play at Toledo, Toledo Waite took an overtime battle from Sylvania, 32

IT'S EASY TO BE FOOLED!

$210,000 FOR A FAKE PETRIFIED GIANT

On an isolated farm near Cardiff, New York, during the last century, a farmer dug up a perfectly preserved body of a mammoth giant. Experts verified the discovery, pronounced it genuine. Thousands beat a path to the lonely farm to view the curiosity at big admission prices. A company was formed for exhibiting the Cardiff giant, until an accidental chipping of one of the toes exposed it as a clever fake, carved from gypsum. Another true to life example of how easy it is to be fooled.

Redlegs Run In Title Form

Champs Show Class In Exhibition Games.

SARASOTA, Fla. —(U P)— The Cincinnati Reds are running so close to their 1940 form that the baseball fans who have watched their grapefruit league performances are convinced it is going to take more skill than the other National league teams possess to oust the world champions from the top.

* * *

The Reds have won three of their four exhibition games but it isn't the three victories that impress the fans. It's the way the Reds won them.

* * *

Yesterday's 6 to 4 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals at St. Petersburg proves the point. The champions were handcuffed for five innings. Then came the sixth and Harry Craft exploded a home run with the bases loaded to tie the score.

The Reds took the lead in the seventh inning and held it.

Middletown, in continuing its first undefeated season in the school's history, was paced by Center Dick Fromm .who scored 12 points.

Fromm did his most important damage in the second quarter when he connected on four straight field goals to pace the Middies to a 22 to 9 advantage at the half.

USE FIVE HURLERS

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla.—(AP)— The Cleveland Indians are going to use five pitchers on their "Big Four" firing line, Bob Feller, Al Milnar and Jim Bagby with Al Smith and Mel Harder, who need more rest, alternatively in the other slot. Clint Brown, Joe Heving and Harry Eisenstat are counted on for relief.

GIRL SCOUTS PREPARE BUSY BIRTHDAY ANNIVERSARY WEEK

Mansfield Girl Scouts are looking for a busy week in commemoration of the 29th birthday of the founding of the Girl Scout movement, according to Eleanor Bond, secretary.

The greatest activity for the week, however, will be confined to the promotion of the current cookie sale drive which will end Saturday evening. The drive is to secure funds for the construction of an activity center for Girl Scouts in Mansfield.

Meanwhile plans were completed for a covered dish supper, Thursday by Troop 3, at the home of Mrs. W. W. Stretch, leader of the group. This will mark the beginning of a competition between two patrols, which comprise Troop 3, for attendance and achievement.

A hike is being planned by Troop 6 in honor of the 29th anniversary to be held Saturday. Leaders of the Troop are Mrs. J. W. Seitz and Mrs. R. D. Iden.

Investiture ceremonies for 18 girls will be held by the new Troop 16 at Prospect park, Monday. Tenderfoot pins will be given to new members of the organization and they will become registered Girl Scouts. Parents are invited to attend the ceremonies. Mrs Charles Ray and Dorothy Gump are leaders of the new Troop. A representative from national headquarters Alice Wagener, will be in Mansfield to confer with council officials March 17-19. A luncheon by the council for Miss Wagener at the Women's club will be held Wednesday, March 19 at 12:30 p. m.

$1.90 Up

It's so much more fun to work in a kitchen that is properly Light Conditioned because proper light conditioning means no shadows, no glare, no straining of eyes to read recipes or to see measuring marks on cups or spoons. Just look, for example, at the difference a few simple changes in the lighting equipment make in the cheeriness and brightness of the above kitchen. Only three very inexpensive changes were made. First, a modern, indirect-type adapter unit was installed in place of the old-fashioned, glaring ceiling fixture.

The new adapter simply screws into the existing outlet just like a light bulb. You can purchase similar adapters for $2.95 and up The addition of the two Pin-it-up lamps, one above the sink and one above the electric range put adequate light just where you want it so that you are no longer working in your own shadow. Similar Pin-it-ups can be purchased for as little as $2.45 for the pair. In other words, for less than $5.00 you can Light Condition your kitchen in a similar manner . . . for comfort, convenience, and easier working conditions.

Sport Podge by REX HESS

But the second joint is badly bruised, and the digit likely will still be tender when he enters the national amateur boxing championships at Boston late this month.

* * *

The Chicago Golden Gloves tourney was full of surprises for the pride of Mansfield's Friendly House, but the biggest surprise came when he returned home and was told by his friends that the radio announcer mentioned his name only twice in the second round of his final bout with defending champion Harold Dade, who was given the nod.

"Why, I fought my best fight in that second round," Paul declares, "and if I won any round in the tournament it was that one."

Paul is modest enough about his ring accomplishments, and getting information from him is like pulling teeth, your own teeth. You know he isn't boasting or ahbiing.

* * *

"I know I won that bout with Dade," he says. "He was the easiest opponent I had at Chicago. But he was well beaten by a Mexican boy in the early bouts and still got the nod. An old Chicago boxer warned me before the fight: If you want the decision over Dade you'll have to knock him out."

* * *

Fight judges who lean to home-town decisions are doing no favor to the fight game or to the home-town boxer. Nothing will keep fistic filberts away from the gate in larger numbers than the knowledge that home-town decisions will be given on the slightest excuse.

"After the bout," Carbetta says, "the judges were slow in giving their decision. One judge looked across the ring at another, and seemed completely bewildered. Then he looked at the referee, and when the referee pointed to Dade I knew the answer."

* * *

The Tiffin Advertiser-Tribune, reporting the Mansfield-Tiffin Columbian game at the Sandusky tournament, declared Jack Shiplet of the Tygers was the cleverest bucketballer the Columbians had faced this winter.

I passed along the word separately to Mansfield Coaches Hoffman, Snyder and Mehock. All took it calmly, so calmly they put a damper on my youthful enthusiasm.

* * *

Their separate replies were as pat as though they had been rehearsed:

"I'm not a bit surprised."

Gosh, I knew the kid was good, and so, evidently, did they. But you'd think they'd be a little excited over the fact that someone else had found it out.

Boots Puts Best Foot Forward

BATON ROUGE, La. —(AP)— Elwood Cletus (Boots) Poffenberger, passed over in the draft because of his reputation although his 1940 record was exceptional, today joined Van Lingle Mungo as a reform candidate for the big leagues.

The former eccentric pitcher for Detroit and Brooklyn, now training here with the Nashville Volunteers of the Southern Association, drew up a simple one-plank platform.

"I'm through with that bad boy stuff," he said.

Like Mungo, the Brooklyn fireballer who was banished Sunday from the Dodgers' training camp at Havanna for breaking training and ordered to join Montreal, Poffenberger declared he was pointing for the big time again.

Little Thunder Vexes Bradley

Roy Weatherly's Silence Perplexes Prexy.

CLEVELAND —(AP)—President Alva Bradley of the Cleveland Indians is vexed and perplexed by the silent holdout campaign being conducted by Roy (Little Stormy) Weatherly, fleet center fielder.

When last reported Weatherly had left Hot Springs, Ark., his destination unknown. Previous to departing he busied himself mailing back unsigned contracts without enclosing any messages.

* * *

"We can't come to terms with him when we don't know what he wants," Bradley said early today before boarding a train for Florida. "He wrote about 15 words on the back of the first contract we sent him mentioning a two-year contract.

* * *

"Because of the war situation we aren't giving any of those. We explained that, but he refuses to say how much money he wants.

"We'll just sit tight until the boy decides to talk."

Bradley returned from the Indians' Ft. Myers camp only a few days ago. He said the Indians looked good in training but "I won't predict a pennant until we are 10 games in front with one game to play."

Weatherly was believed to have received about $6,500 last season. He had one of his best years, hitting 303 to become the only Cleveland regular to go above .300.

Manager Roger Peckinpaugh has been using Clarence Campbell, but the youngster's inexperience and inferior fielding ability make him an inadequate replacement for Weatherly, rated one of the best defensive center fielders in the American league.

A. B. C. Pin Tourney Opened

$343,245 Entry Fees Posted By Keglers.

ST. PAUL, Minn. —(U.P.)— The American Bowling Congress, with nearly 30,000 contestants and $250,000 in prizes, opens tonight on the 40 gleaming alleys of the Municipal auditorium.

Tournament officials said the 1941 ABC would be the second largest in the congress' history, exceeded only by the 1940 meet at Detroit.

* * *

Two five-man teams from Flin Flon, Manitoba, in the Arctic Circle, will be among the first night competitors.

* * *

From tonight until May 6 the pins will fly for 16 hours daily under the assault of 5,798 five-man teams representing 865 communities in 38 states and four Canadian provinces. These teams with the 9,790 doubles and 20,079 singles entrants have posted $343 245 in entry fees for the privilege in competing in the bowlers' world series.

Championships which will be at stake are the Monarch Beers, Chicago, team title; the double title of Herbert Frietag and Joe Simke, Chicago; the singles title of Ray Brown, Terre Haute, Ind., and the all-events crown of Fred Fischer, Buffalo, N. Y. All will be on hand, although no champion ever has defended his title successfully in the 41-year history of the congress.

* * *

When final scores are posted approximately a quarter-million dollars will be divided into about 46,750 prizes. The high-score team will be $1,500 richer and doubles and singles winners will get $300 apiece. The all-events champion will win $200.

* * *

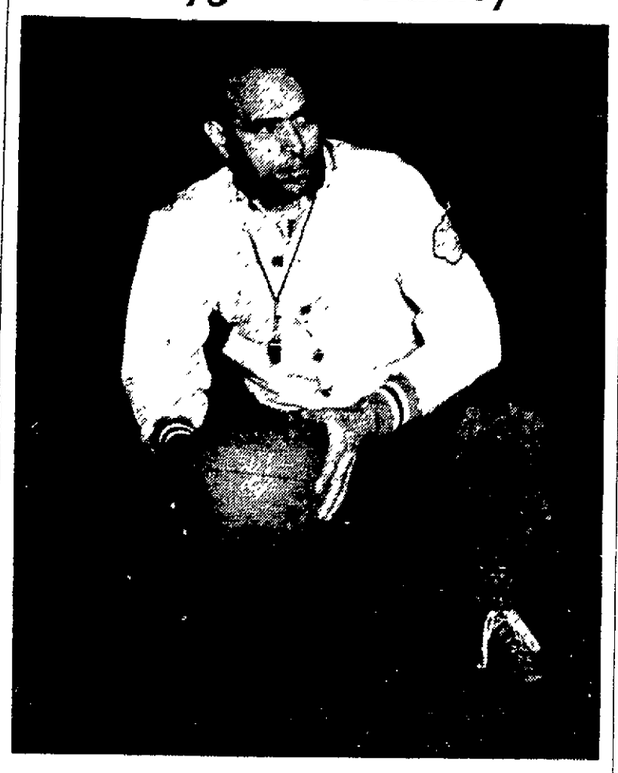
There will be 450 prizes to booster teams, which are five-man teams with an average of 850 or less, 950 prizes to regular five-man teams, 1,744 awards in the two-man events, and 3,600 prizes for individuals.

Rice Churns Another Win

GREG RICE

It's becoming a weekly custom to picture Greg Rice, America's outstanding distance runner, and mention that here he is winning another race. The latest victory scored by the former Notre Dame star was in the two-mile at the Knights of Columbus games in New York. Rice exhibits his distance speed at the K. of C. games in Cleveland, Sunday, March 16.

Tutors Tygers In Tourney



VERN HOFFMAN

After a disappointing start, Coach Hoffman has seen his Mansfield high Tygers stage a remarkable comeback to even their season's record to date at 10 victories and the same number of defeats, and reach the point where they are now regarded as having at least an even chance of winning the Sandusky district tournament. The Tygers meet Fremont Ross' dangerous Little Giants in the tourney semi-finals tomorrow night.

Three Teams Battle Way to State Meet

Scots Cop All-Ohio Honors

Awarded Three First Team Positions.

By FRIT ZHOWELL

COLUMBUS — (AP) — Wooster's Scots, knocked off the Ohio conference throne this year for the first time in three seasons, made up for that setback today by placing three stars on the 1941 Associated Press all-league honorary team.

* * *

The state's coaches, sports writers and officials had no doubts at all about the individual caliber of the conference standouts as they voted Gilbert Hole, Dick Gernert and Frank Grenert of the Scots to first-string positions, along with George Keel of Ohio Northern and Charles Joachim of the champion Mt. Union Raiders.

* * *

Hole and Gernert, the forwards, repeated from the 1940 all-star team, while center Grenert moved up from the second string. Keel, the midget of the squad, also hopped from the second team of last year, while Joachim, only junior selected, leaped all the way from last season's honorable mention list.

The Mounts, handed the title on a silver platter as Muskingum flattened Wooster in the season's finale, placed men on the first, second and third teams. The Raiders came close to getting two on the first team. Grenert just nosing out Stanley Baughman for the center position.

The Associated Press acted only as "vote counter," the players receiving the greatest number of ballots from the coaches, sports writers and officials getting the upper berths.

* * *

Wittenberg's scintillating star and most valuable player, Cliff Heskett, and Ashland's Jim Richcreek retained the second team positions they won a year ago. Augspurger of Otterbein, graduate of the 1940 third team, Baughman, and Muskingum's Everett rounded out the second squad.

* * *

Hole, son of the Wooster coach, "Mose" Hole, led the squad in scoring with 223 points, Joachim finishing second with 219 despite the fact he was out of one game with an injured ankle. Heskett, second stringer, had 282 for 22 games.

The selections:

FIRST TEAM

Player	College	Position
Gilbert Hole,	Wooster	Forward
Dick Gernert,	Wooster	Forward
Frank Grenert	Wooster	Center
George Keel,	Ohio Northern	Guard

TAKES THREE CUTS, AND READY TO PLAY

SARASOTA, Fla.—(AP)—There was some question about what condition Catcher Ernie Lombardi would be in when he ended his holdout and showed up at the camp of the Cincinnati Reds. But his pal, Eddie Joost, described it like this:

"He puts on a uniform, he grabs a bat, steps up to the plate, hits three pitches on a line to the outfield, and says, 'Well, I'm ready.' And he is!"

DEPENDS ON "HUMP"

PASADENA, Calif.—(AP)—Manager Jimmy Dykes expects Johnny Humphries, pitcher from Cleveland, to take over Johnny Rigney's starting role for the Chicago White Sox if last year's 15-game winner is drafted. Right now, however, Humphries is a flu victim, along with five teammates. Catcher Mike Tresh, hit on the head by a bat last Sunday, also came down with the flu yesterday.

Bulldogs Reach Finals

Canton McKinley and Massillon Win, Timken Edged By Tigers.

COLUMBUS —(U.P.)— Canton McKinley, runner-up for the state title last year, Massillon, a semi-finalist, and Springfield township, one of three unbeaten Class A teams in the state, today became the first teams to qualify for the Class A division of the state high school basketball tourney at Columbus next week.

* * *

They captured their berths last night in final games of the Northeastern district meet at Akron. McKinley, loser in only one game this season, swamped Barberton, 58 to 23; Massillon edged Canton Timken, 26 to 24, and Springfield Twp. turned back Elyria, 38 to 28, for its 20th consecutive victory this season.

* * *

Middletown, one of the other unbeaten Class A fives, marked up win No. 19 by defeated Dayton Fairview, 40 to 23, and barring Fairview from the state meet for the first time in three years. Fairview, incidentally, became the ninth of 6 defending Class A district champions to fall in district playoffs this month.

By downing Barberton, Canton McKinley won its 10th trip to the state meet. The Bulldogs have been in the state tournament more than any team in the state but have never captured the title. Last year McKinley was defeated in the finals by New Philadelphia, 30 to 22.

IT'S EASY TO BE FOOLED!
$210,000 FOR A FAKE PETRIFIED GIANT
On an isolated farm near Cardiff, New York, during the last century, a farmer dug up a perfectly preserved body of a mammoth giant. Experts visited the discovery, pronounced it genuine. Thousands beat a path to the lonely farm to view the curiosity at big admission prices. A company was formed for exhibiting the Cardiff giant, until an accidental chipping of one of the toes exposed it as a clever fake, carved from gypsum. Another true to life example of how easy it is to be fooled.

Redlegs Run In Title Form

Champs Show Class In Exhibition Games.

SARASOTA, Fla. —(U.P.)— The Cincinnati Reds are running so close to their 1940 form that the baseball fans who have watched their grapefruit league performances are convinced it is going to take more skill than the other National league teams possess to oust the world champions from the top.

* * *

The Reds have won three of their four exhibition games but it isn't the three victories that impress the fans. It's the way the Reds won them.

* * *

Yesterday's 6 to 4 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals at St. Petersburg proves the point. The champions were handcuffed for five innings. Then came the sixth and Harry Craft exploded a home run with the bases loaded to tie the score.

The Reds took the lead in the seventh inning and held it.

Middletown, in continuing its first undefeated season in the school's history, was paced by Center Dick Fromm who scored 12 points.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla.—(AP)— The Cleveland Indians are going to use five pitchers on their "Big Four" firing line, Bob Feller, Al Milnar and Jim Bagby with Al Smith and Mel Harder, who need more rest, alternatively in the other slot. Clint Brown, Joe Heving and Harry Eisenstat are counted on for relief.

He portrays an interloper in the affairs of Dan, a blustering hard-headed cattle baron. Co-attraction is "Dr. Kildare's Crisis," with the usual cast of Lew Ayres, Lionel Barrymore and Laraine Day. Robert Young is the guest star for this production.

GIRL SCOUTS PREPARE BUSY BIRTHDAY ANNIVERSARY WEEK

Mansfield Girl Scouts are looking for a busy week in commemoration of the 29th birthday of the founding of the Girl Scout movement, according to Eleanor Bond, secretary.

The greatest activity for the week, however, will be confined to the promotion of the current cookie sale drive which will end Saturday evening. The drive is to secure funds for the construction of an activity center for Girl Scouts in Mansfield.

Meanwhile plans were completed for a covered dish supper, Thursday by Troop 3, at the home of Mrs. W. W. Stretch, leader of the group. This will mark the beginning of a competition between two patrols, which comprise Troop 3, for attendance and achievement.

A hike is being planned by Troop 6 in honor of the 29th anniversary to be held Saturday. Leaders of the Troop are Mrs. J. W. Seitz and Mrs. R. D. Iden.

Investiture ceremonies for 18 girls will be held by the new Troop 16 at Prospect park, Monday. Tenderfoot pins will be given to new members of the organization and they will become registered Girl Scouts. Parents are invited to attend the ceremonies. Mrs. Charles Ray and Dorothy Gump are leaders of the new Troop. A representative from national headquarters Alice Wagener, will be in Mansfield to confer with council officials March 17-19. A luncheon by the council for Miss Wagener at the Women's club will be held Wednesday, March 19 at 12:30 p. m.

It's so much more fun to work in a kitchen that is properly Light Conditioned because proper light conditioning means no shadows, no glare, no straining of eyes to read recipes or to see measuring marks on cups or spoons. Just look, for example, at the difference a few simple changes in the lighting equipment make in the cheeriness and brightness of the above kitchen. Only three very inexpensive changes were made. First, a modern, indirect-type adapter unit was installed in place of the old-fashioned, glaring ceiling fixture. The new adapter simply screws into the existing outlet just like a light bulb. You can purchase similar adapters for $2.95 and up. The addition of the two Pin-it-up lamps, one above the sink and one above the electric range put adequate light just where you want it so that you are no longer working in your own shadow. Similar Pin-it-ups can be purchased for as little as $2.45 for the pair. In other words, for less than $5.00 you can Light Condition your kitchen in a similar manner . . . for comfort, convenience, and easier working conditions.
